

BOY, 14, HIT BY PITCHED BALL IN SCHOOL GAME, DIES

Charles Olemander of Arlington Team Fatally Hurt in Contest for School League Championship.

CARRIED FROM THE FIELD UNCONSCIOUS

Teamates, Not Knowing Injury Was Serious, Continued Play, Winning From Mt. Pleasants.

Arlington School won its game with Mt. Pleasant School in the elimination for the championship of the Public School League yesterday afternoon, but it was at the cost of the life of Charles Olemander, 14 years old, son of Otto Olemander, 1923 Semple avenue. A pitched ball fractured his skull in the fifth inning of the game.

In the supposition that his injury was not serious the game was continued after he was carried from the field, and Arlington won by the score of 3 to 2. The accident occurred at 4:30 o'clock. At 6 o'clock the boy died at Barnes Hospital.

There was great interest in the game, which was played at grounds No. 8 in Forest Park. A large crowd of pupils of the two schools and their relatives was on hand. The score was 3 to 2 in the fifth inning, when Charles Olemander, second baseman for the Arlingtons, went to bat. Arthur Stauffer, 14 years old, of 2011 Lamp avenue, was pitching for the Mt. Pleasants. He threw a swift, straight ball which struck Charles in the head. The batsman fell to the ground.

Teachers and policemen who ran to him found him unconscious and he was carried from the field. It was not until he was carried to the hospital that he was found to have received a mortal hurt, and after he had been taken away to the hospital the game was resumed and played to its conclusion, with Arlington winning by the same score, 3 to 2.

At the hospital, however, it was found Charles had a serious fracture and he died without having regained consciousness.

The majority of Arlington pupils went to school this morning without knowing that their schoolmate had died. The information that he had died was passed to the school by a check upon the preparations for the school picnic, scheduled for Saturday, but after a conference of members of the Arlington team, Leo Dorn, the president, announced the picnic would take place.

The funeral will be at 2:30 p. m. Sunday from an undertaker's chapel at 521 Easton avenue. Members of the Arlington team have asked to be permitted to serve as pallbearers.

Charles was a member of this year's graduating class. On account of his death, Principal S. C. Wright announced today the withdrawal of the Arlington team from the championship elimination series.

U. S. GIRL RELIEVES CRETE
OF GREEK BANDIT'S PRESENCE

Induces Outlaw and Followers to Obtain Amnesty and Join Army at Front.

By the Associated Press.
ATHENS, June 7.—Through the efforts of an American girl—Miss Margaret Robinson of Grand Rapids—Crete has been relieved of the presence of the Greek bandit Barbouris, who has terrorized the island for 15 years.

Every kind of crime and outrage has been attributed to this outlaw and his 50 followers and repeated efforts to capture the band have resulted disastrously for the gendarmes.

When Miss Robinson, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College, arrived two months ago, as the representative of the Near East Relief, she found that Barbouris was interfering with the distribution of refugees among the villages. She sent an envoy to the famous outlaw to ask whether he would abandon his tactics if she arranged amnesty for him, and suggested that he ask the Athens Government for permission to join the army on the Turkish frontier.

Amnesty was granted Barbouris and the bandit with his followers embarked from Cambia mounted to join the "King's own" regiment at Dedagach.

GERMANS NOW WANT TOURISTS

Hotel Owners and Resort Cities Protest Against Red Tape.

BERLIN, June 7.—Germany is beginning to feel the pinch of her own action in discriminating against foreign tourists. This was shown by a protest meeting held Tuesday by hotel keepers and delegations from numerous resorts usually frequented by foreigners.

All protested against bureaucratic Government measures which keep foreigners away, saying that tourists avoid visiting Germany because of the unfair treatment accorded them. Director Kretschmar of the Bristol Hotel told Government representatives that these restrictions alone were responsible for the fact that 80 per cent of the American visitors in Europe go to France.

Birth Rate Decline in 1922.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—A decline in the birth rate and a slight increase in the death rate in 1922 were shown in provisional Census Bureau figures announced today by the Department of Commerce.

The 24 states reporting birth figures in 1922 rate was 22.7 for each 1000 of population, as compared with a rate of 24.4 in 1921. In 33 states, the death rate last year was 11.9, as against 11.6 in 1921.

CATS BEFORE KIN WITH MRS. TODD, RELATIVES SAY

Top Layers of Oysters Went to Pets, Nieces Told to Take Rest, Attorney States.

SUIT CONTESTING WILL BEING TRIED

Eccentricities of Elderly Woman Who Left Fund for Home for Dumb Animals Related.

Mrs. Mary Caroline Todd sat down and wrote her will when she was 87 years old. First, she remembered "Girly" and "Goldie," her cats, buried under the front lawn of her home at Daytona Beach, Fla. She bequeathed $60,000 of her estate to the founding of a home for dumb animals. Next, she thought of the Methodist Church, leaving to its missions board her Daytona house. Last of all she remembered her relatives.

It had always been that way, at least during the last years of her life, the relatives' chief attorney said in Circuit Judge Davis' Court yesterday at the trial of a contest of her will. On several occasions Mrs. Todd opened cans of oysters and allowed her cats to eat the top layers, stating that her nieces might use what the cats left.

Feeling keenly this discrimination carried out to the end, Mrs. Todd's relatives now are telling a jury how they interpret it.

Depositions Read.

Depositions read by plaintiffs' three attorneys in court yesterday described Mrs. Todd as "a silly, childish old lady who named through her declining years a victim of senile dementia." Five lawyers for the defendants sat at counsel table and laughed at certain testimony in the depositions.

When a person dictates a will is one case and when a person writes out a will is another, they told reporters. Mrs. Todd's will, it was indicated, will speak for itself. She might have said and done foolish things, but Mrs. Todd knew exactly what she was about when she wrote her will, they argue.

Personal Effects Itemized.

The will in question is a lengthy document. All Mrs. Todd's near relatives are mentioned in it. She lists a complete inventory of her personal effects even down to "the lace collar that hangs low in front." Her silver, books, her clothing, all are itemized.

"These things are dear," she says, "because they show the spirit of a home."

She then proceeds to parcel out her belongings to nieces, nephews and friends.

"Richard Leaverton is to have my dictionary," she says. "He will find in it a grand education."

Speaking of a niece she remarks, "None of my previous gifts have pleased her, so she is to have the choice of the following." Then follow a number of items.

Disposition of Silver.

She goes into remarkable detail concerning disposition of her silver, directing in one instance that if one of the beneficiaries has a surplus of knives and forks she should give them to the management of the Ford headquarters here at Fort Worth within two months.

AERIAL SHIPMENT

INTEREST DISCUSSED

Federal Reserve Directors Study Plan to Eliminate Delays Through Mails.

Advantages of using airplanes to transport money between Federal reserve cities to reduce the enormous "float" of money through the comparatively slow-moving mails and save the sums daily in interest that are lost to communities while money is in transit, was discussed here yesterday at a meeting of directors of Federal Reserve Banks of this district.

It was said by George R. James, member of the Federal Reserve Board, who attended the meeting, that the board was seriously studying aerial shipment of money as the safest and quickest method of transportation and particularly as a means of saving interest through elimination of delays in the mail.

He pointed out that money could be shipped by air in fireproof capsules and that the hazard from robbery or theft would virtually be eliminated, as there appear to be no "bandits of the sky" at this time.

PASSENGER STEAMER OFF FOR

LONDON, June 7.—The members of the House of Commons committee, which is investigating the question of taxing betting, attended the Derby at Epsom Downs yesterday as guests of the Jockey Club. Isaac Foot, one of the committee, said he and his associates were amazed at the extent of the betting business and staggered by the amount of money which changed hands. They came to the conclusion that to prevent betting would be about as feasible as trying to turn back Niagara. Several members of the committee went away convinced that it would be impossible on such an occasion as Derby day to collect a tax on betting.

WOULD IDENTIFY
MRS. CROKER AS MARONE'S WIFE

Attorney for Late Tammany Chief's Daughter Asserts Witnesses From U. S. Will Refute Widow's Denial.

BAY STATE RESIDENTS TO TELL OF MARRIAGE

Woman, It Is Said, Will Relate Conversations With Widow at Her Alleged Home in Northampton.

By Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

DUBLIN, June 7.—William Jellett, King's Counselor, yesterday told the jury in the Croker will suit that the plaintiffs would produce witnesses who would identify Mrs. Richard Croker positively as the wife of Guy R. Marone before she married the former Tammany boss.

He opened the case for Mrs. Ethel C. White of Cedarhurst, N. Y., a daughter of the late Richard Croker. She is contesting the Croker will.

The attorney declared the case would hinge on how the jury would weigh Mrs. Croker's denials against testimony of "these disinterested witnesses." He declared Mrs. White and her advisers would not bring the charge unless they were in a position to prove it, and that Mrs. Croker had a great pecuniary interest in the case, but his witnesses had none.

"After seeing her in America and in this court," Counselor Jellett went on, "they are absolutely convinced of her identity."

He added that a woman would testify that Mrs. Croker and Marone lived "in and out of her house" at Northampton, Mass., from March to June, 1912. A neighbor, Mrs. Addie, he said, would tell of many conversations with Marone's wife, who told her she came from an Indian blood and was a Princess, mentioning the Indian tribe with which she was connected, the lawyer alleged.

United States Tailor Will Testify.

A witness named Swift, a tailor of Northampton, the lawyer said, would tell of meeting Marone in New York in 1908 and employing him until 1911. He also planned to tell of a visit Marone made to his shop in which Marone introduced his wife, whom Swift would identify as Mrs. Croker.

Jellett said two women would testify that Marone and Mrs. Croker lived at Northampton in 1912, and subsequently identified Mrs. Marone as Mrs. Croker at a hotel in Saratoga Springs, when she was accompanied by her late husband in 1921.

Counsel added that there was no suggestion of quarrel or friction in the Croker family until the father married the second time.

"She alienated him from his children," Jellett declared, "and the result was that Mrs. Croker, in 1913, and subsequently identified Mrs. Marone as Mrs. Croker at a hotel in Saratoga Springs, when she was accompanied by her late husband in 1921."

SECOND DROWNING IN PARK LAKE;
BOATING CHECKED

Malcolm Skelton, Amateur Artist, Loses Life When Canoe Overturns Near Boat House.

PARK COMMISSIONER TO TAKE ACTION

May Have Boathouse Moved From Opposite Deep Portion Until It Is Filled In.

Immediate steps will be taken to discontinue all boating in the deep-water area of the boathouse lake in Forest Park. It was announced today by Park Commissioner Pape following the second drowning in the lake in nine days by upsetting canoes.

Malcolm Skelton, 21 years old, of 5679 Clemens avenue, a sketch artist, fell from an overturned canoe at 2:30 p. m. yesterday. His body was recovered after it had been in the water 20 minutes. Adrenalin, which is sometimes successful in revivifying stilled hearts, was administered unsuccessfully.

The other drowning was that of John Loughran, 16, of 4512 Maffitt avenue, who fell from an overturned canoe the night of May 29.

The lake is to be filled with dirt to reduce its depth from eight feet to three feet when dirt is available from a sewer to be built by bond issue funds through the park to confine the River des Peres. At the time of making a new budget for the Park Department last year Commissioner Pape included an item of $25,000 to reduce the depth of this lake, but it was not allowed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, as it was believed the filling would be less expensive if the improvement was made from dirt excavated from the new River des Peres enclosed sewer.

"I am going to see the boat commissionaire this afternoon," said Commissioner Pape, "and in view of the two fatalities, I shall see to it that all forms of boating in the deep section of the lake are discontinued until the depth of the lake has been reduced. This may mean the removal of the boathouse to another section of the lake, but it must be done. The deep-water area extends over an area of about an acre and the one must cross this part of the lake to get to and from the boathouse."

Skelton, who had gone to the park to sketch, rented a canoe at the boat house at the northeast corner of the lake and had rowed out about 200 feet to a point where the water is 7 or 8 feet deep. The canoe, in some unaccountable manner, upset, although Skelton was rated as a good swimmer, he failed to save himself from drowning. Firemen from Engine Company 18, at 6810 Clayton avenue, recovered the body.

Malcolm Skelton was a student at the City of St. Louis, residing at 5614 Clemens avenue. He returned from Los Angeles, where he had spent several years, last January, and, owing to the fact that there was no sufficient room at his mother's home, he took a room at 5579 Clemens avenue.

GERMANY OFFERS TO PLEDGE HER RAILWAYS TO PAY REPARATIONSWISCONSIN HOUSE VOTES FOR REPEAL OF STATE
DRY ENFORCEMENT LAWS

By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis., June 7.—The Wisconsin Assembly today voted 48 to 43 to repeal the Sevelson law, the State prohibition enforcement statute. This action followed an attempt to gill the bill, which met defeat by the same vote.

Leaders of the dry forces have announced they rely on the Senate to stop repeal of the statute.

Before it can become a law, the repeal bill must pass the Senate and be signed by the Governor, who has announced his opposition.

The antiprohibition forces voted to send the bill to the Judiciary Committee of State Affairs Committee bill providing for a referendum on the question of repeal or the eighteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution.

They offered an amendment intended to nullify the State enforcement, which was ruled not germane by Speaker John L. Dahl.

NEW YORK POLICE WITHDRAWN FROM DRY ENFORCEMENT

Counselor Instructs Head of Department Repeal Act Removes Legal Obligation to Uphold Volstead Law.

WILL ABOLISH SQUADS SEEKING VIOLATORS

Federal Attorney Calls Ruling 'Appalling Blow at Enforcement'—$80,000 Cargo of Whisky Seized.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Development yesterday in the new prohibition enforcement situation created by the Mullan-Gage repeal were:

Corporation Counsel George E. Nicholson instructed Commissioner Enright that the police were not under any legal obligation to enforce the Volstead act.

Enright announced he would withdraw all the special squads now seeking liquor law violators.

Federal District Attorney Hayward said Nicholson's ruling was in direct conflict with Gov. Smith's message when he signed the Mullan-Gage repeal and "an appalling blow to law enforcement."

Palmer Canfield, Federal prohibition director, appealed to Commissioner Enright for continued support in enforcing Federal prohibition.

The State Anti-Saloon League announced that at the next legislative session it would seek the enactment of three bills enabling any city, village or town to enact ordinances in aid of any State or Federal statute.

A cargo of whisky, valued at $80,000, was seized by Federal prohibition agents in the Brooklyn yards of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

The ruling that the police have "only a moral duty" with respect to the Volstead act was made by Nicholson at a conference yesterday afternoon at his office with Enright, Hayward and his assistants, J. H. Clark and John M. Cashin, and Assistant District Attorneys Myers of New York, Geismar of Kings and Pettie of Queens County.

The conference resulted from Commissioner Enright's request that the corporation counsel define the powers, duties and responsibilities of the police toward the Volstead act. The meeting was brief and everybody seemed happy at its close, departing without comment other than to say Nicholson would make a statement. The corporation counsel then said:

"After the conference it was decided that the Police Commissioner and Col. Hayward will co-operate in enforcement of the Volstead act on the same lines as before the Mullan-Gage law went into effect. There is no friction between the two departments and Col. Hayward is satisfied with Mr. Enright's co-operation."

But questioning by reporters developed there was more beneath the surface. "Col. Hayward and I had a disagreement as to the law," said Nicholson.

"I maintained there is no legal obligation on the local authorities to enforce the statute (the Volstead act) and Col. Hayward disagreed, but didn't change my views."

"Col. Hayward," continued Nicholson, "took the stand that all police officers take an oath to support the Federal Constitution. My answer is that, although the police take such an oath, they are not bound to enforce a constitutional provision unless there is a State enforcement law—that is, other than the moral duty of all good citizens to see that a law is enforced."

"There is no State law agency to punish persons for violating the Volstead act, other than to hand them over to the Federal authorities. The police will arrest violators when they see them, or having received information concerning violations, will

SLAYING OF CARDINAL LAID TO CHURCH ISSUE

Prelate Had Demanded Spain Continue Recognition of Catholic Church as State Institution.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

LONDON, June 7.—Cardinal Soldevilla y Romero, Archbishop of Saragossa, Spain, who was assassinated last Monday on the grounds of his palace, according to dispatches to British papers, had presented to the Spanish Government a demand that Spain continue to recognize the Catholic Church as the state church.

When the Liberal party came into power in Spain it promised to reform the Constitution and to permit equality of all religions. The Cardinal, on behalf of his church, protested to Premier Albuquerque and warned him that he must uphold the present system in his speech opening the new session of the Chamber of Deputies.

As a result of this demand, the religious freedom issue, which had been dormant for years, was suddenly raised again. The Cardinal's demand that Spain continue to recognize the Catholic Church as the state church.

HOW BRITAIN VIEWS REPARATIONS PROBLEM

Said to Accept Belgian Figure of 40,000,000,000 Gold Marks as the Total.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, June 7.—The correspondence is able to summarize from an authoritative quarter the views as to a reparations settlement at present held by the British Government.

The British accept the Belgian figure of 40,000,000,000 gold marks (about $10,000,000,000) as the reparations total. But Belgium excluded interallied debts and the German C bonds from her proposals. England wants to settle all outstanding obligations at once.

The British would divide the 40,000,000,000 gold marks on the ratio already agreed upon. This would give France about 21,000,000,000; England, 9,000,000,000; Italy, 4,000,000,000; Belgium, 3,000,000,000; and Serbia, Rumania and Japan the balance. One billion would be subtracted, each nation contributing its proportion on the same basis.

As regards interallied debts, Britain would fall back on the January proposal to cancel 71 per cent of the French and Italian debts and all the German C bonds, provided the 40,000,000,000 settlement is made. Britain also favors a moratorium for Germany on the same basis.

It is not concealed that these proposals are bound to excite strong opposition in France. The French have semi-officially hinted they want 25,000,000,000 gold marks and cancellation of her war debts in full. Moreover, the British will not give France priority for the devastated regions, claiming England's sacrifices in this plan entitle her to what is left as and when paid by Germany.

Of course, the whole settlement hinges as recent cables have indicated, on the Belgian figure. It is to be given to the French and Italian debts. Neither Paris nor Rome, for political reasons, will agree to the British scheme without this.

own control, and obligations will be issued up to the amount of 10,000,000,000 gold marks with a direct first charge on the assets of this administration and carrying interest at 5 per cent as from July 1, 1927, thus ensuring an annual payment of 500,000,000 gold marks.

"(b) To secure a further annual payment of 500,000,000 gold marks as from July 1, 1927, the German Government will at once subject the entire business industry, banking, trade, traffic and agriculture to 10,000,000,000 gold marks on the real estate, whether buildings, dwellings, lands or forests. The annual dues of 500,000,000 gold marks will be levied either indirectly in the form of a general tax on all classes of property or on the specific objects of the mortgage.

"(c) In addition, the German Government will pledge as security the customs on imports of consumable articles other than necessities, the excise on beer, tobacco, wine and sugar, and the receipts of the spirits monopoly. On the average of the years preceding the war, these customs and excise receipts reached about 800,000,000 marks. Their yield in gold marks has fallen to one-quarter on account of the loss of territory and population and reduced consumption. With the recovery of the economic activity of Germany it will automatically increase.

Obligations Acknowledged.

In conclusion, the German Government feels that it must lay emphasis on the following. In a matter so vast and complicated as reparations cannot be made by the exchange of written documents, but can only be achieved by word of mouth at the conference table. Germany's capacity to pay must be judged on the basis of the character of the settlement as a whole. A method of payment can only be arranged in direct consultation with those who are to receive payment. The guarantee can only be worked out in detail with the collaboration of those whom they are intended to serve.

For the solution of these questions, on discussion is essential. Germany acknowledges her liability to make reparations. The German Government repeats its request that a conference be summoned to decide how it may best discharge it."

Poincare Induces Belgium to Withhold Reparations Plan.

By Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

BRUSSELS, June 7.—Premier Poincare responded with an emphatic "No" yesterday to Belgium's plea for some modification of French-Belgian Ruhr policy. He persuaded Belgium to withhold her reparations plan, and it is understood the new German offer was decided to be not worth considering.

In an hour and a quarter M. Poincare silenced all arguments of Belgian Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar. He persuaded them to subscribe to a declaration announcing to the world that occupation of the Ruhr must continue, may, rendered even more rigorous, on the same conditions as heretofore.

At the opening of the conference Theunis and Jaspar were prepared to insist on modification of the Ruhr policy. They wanted progressive evacuation upon Germany's acceptance of future allied reparations

7 KILLED, 100 WOUNDED, IN LEIPSIG DISORDERS

20,000 Said to Have Participated in Demonstration Against Ruhr Occupation.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 7.—Seven persons were killed and more than 100 wounded in yesterday's disorders at Leipzig, it is announced in special dispatches from that city today. The dead include one policeman, the head watchman, while there are 35 of whom are in a serious condition.

The demonstration was in protest against the Ruhr occupation and the insufficiency of the unemployed doles. Some 20,000 persons, it is said, took part. Order was restored last evening.

The demonstrators gathered under the auspices of the trades unions and the Socialists in five huge assemblies in the central part of the town. The demonstration was the climax of a number of minor private and open-air meetings which had occurred during the two days previous.

Shot Fired From Crowd.

Toward the close of these gatherings, it is said, crowds of the youthful, unruly elements, suspected of including some communists, began stirring up provocative agitation in the neighboring streets against the police and the trade union leaders who were preserving order.

The police declare that when they tried to suppress this counter demonstration a shot was fired from the crowd and the police then resorted to the use of blackjacks. This brought a shower of stones and bits of glass from the disturbers, who in turn began using blackjacks and knives.

After vainly trying to disperse the crowd by shooting into the air the police shot directly at the rioters.

conditions. But once more they allowed the French Premier to have his way.

At the same time Britain's plain offers in the last few days to help pull Europe out of chaos appear to have been neglected. No mention was made in the official, communique of the possibility of British and Italian co-operation in the next dealings with Germany, although it is known Belgium is anxious that the next note to the Reich bear the signatures of all the allies.

M. Poincare succeeded in inducing the Belgians to withdraw for the moment the new general plan for settling reparations by means of a series of German monopolies. Belgian experts estimated these would yield annually 2,800,000,000 gold marks.

The French Premier insists Germany is on the verge of surrender and that when internal conditions aided by sterner measures, compel her to cease passive resistance, France will get substantial profits from the Ruhr itself, apart from anything else that may be wrung from Germany.

Brussels Finds Poincare's Attitude More Toward Compromise.

By the Associated Press.

BRUSSELS, June 7.—It is generally agreed that the conference of French and Belgian ministers was noteworthy in at least two respects. In the first place, although Premier Poincare insisted that no German reparations offer could be considered while passive resistance was maintained in the Ruhr, his attitude was regarded as considerably more favorable to compromise than heretofore.

The French gave notice of their willingness to consider in a conciliatory spirit any reasonable offer from Berlin, although they reiterated that the Ruhr could be evacuated only as Germany paid. On this they were supported by Belgium.

In the second place the Ministers let it be known that the assistance of Great Britain in suggesting a settlement would not be unwelcome on Germany's new reparations proposals. Premiers Poincare and Theunis also decided to submit to London a plan to organize an international tobacco and alcohol syndicate as a means of getting more out of the occupied regions. This decision, in the opinion of the Belgians, will serve to bring Great Britain in closer touch with the situation.

The Ministers also decided that all the allies might be asked to sign a joint reply to the expected German offer.

The French, with the Belgians supporting their view, still held out for a cessation of German passive resistance as an inflexible requirement before Germany's new offer is examined; but M. Poincare's attitude on the whole nevertheless is considered here decidedly more promising than heretofore.

Official Statement.

An official communique issued after the conference reads:

"The French and Belgian Governments continue their joint study of various questions raised by the occupation of the Ruhr. They maintain integrally their former decisions notably in what concerns the conditions under which the evacuation of the Ruhr would take place after the payment of reparations and also concerning the obligations for Germany to cease her passive resistance before there can be an examination of her proposals.

"The two Governments have laid down a program on new measures to be taken in order to accentuate their pressure to coerce Germany into complete fulfillment of her obligations."

Summary of Germany's Various Reparation Offers

By the Associated Press.

THE Reparations Commission originally decided that Germany, under the provisions of the Versailles peace treaty, should be assessed damages for her aggressions in the sum of 132,000,000,000 gold marks (about $33,000,000,000).

Germany always has asserted that this amount was far beyond her ability to pay. In counter proposals she has offered various sums, all of them far below the original demand. In addition, she has hedged about her tenders stipulations which the allies, and particularly France, have refused point blank to consider. Insufficient guarantees that Germany would make good her promises always have been pointed out by France as good reasons for that country declining to give full consideration to her offers.

Germany's first offer was 30,000,000,000 gold marks (about $7,500,000,000), payable at rate of $240,000,000 annually for five years, with a new arrangement of liquidation to be worked out after that period. The offer was conditional on Upper Silesia being awarded to Germany and the restoration of Germany's commercial privileges throughout the world.

Her second tender was almost identical with the first as regards the amount. She also agreed to pay the equivalent of a 12 per cent tax on exports.

Offer Made in 1921.

In April, 1921, came an offer of 50,000,000,000 gold marks, 1,000,000,000 of which was to be paid immediately and the remainder to be liquidated in annuities running over a long period of time, ultimately bringing the total, with accrued interest, up to 200,000,000,000 marks. A large international loan to Germany was contemplated in this offer.

It was made in a note addressed to President Harding for transmission to the allies. Secretary of State Hughes informed Germany that the United States had found itself unable to reach the conclusion that the proposal afforded a basis for discussion acceptable to the allies.

Then, in January, 1923, came the famous meeting of the allied Prime Ministers in Paris, at which the reparations differences between the officials became more accentuated. The British and French were agreed on a reparations figure of 50,000,000,000 gold marks, and also on the question of comprehensive financial control. There was indirect opposition on the question of penalties, France desiring to seize guarantees along the Rhine and in the Ruhr, while Great Britain did not desire any further occupation of German territory except in the case of some future default by Germany.

French Enter the Ruhr.

A few days later France, accompanied by the Belgians and some Italian forces, entered the Ruhr. Chancellor Cuno announced in the Reichstag that Germany's obligations would cease to be discharged in further direct dealings with the "treacherous breaking powers."

The last offer made by Germany was for a total indemnity payment of 30,000,000,000 gold marks. All the allies immediately rejected it.

MOSCOW, June 7.—Vasil Kozlov, convicted of the murder of 33 persons, and his wife, as his accomplice, were sentenced today to be shot within 72 hours. Neither betrayed any emotion as the sentence was passed. There was loud applause from the crowd in the courtroom and cries that the sentence should be carried into effect immediately instead of waiting 72 hours.

STATIC ELECTRICITY BELIEVED TO HAVE CAUSED TC-1 FIRE

Army's Newest Nonrigid Airship Had Broken Loose From Its Moorings and Struck Steel Mast.

TWO MEN INJURED
IN LEAP FROM CRAFT

Military Board at Wilbur Wright Field, Dayton, O., Investigating Destruction of $60,000 Gas Bag.

A military board of investigation at Wilbur Wright Field, Dayton, O., today is investigating the destruction by explosion and fire of the $60,000 TC-1, newest and largest nonrigid airship in the United States, there at 4:15 o'clock (Eastern time), last night. This giant craft, which has been seen by hundreds of St. Louisans, was stationed at Scott Field, chief lighter-than-air flying station of the army.

Staff Sergeant Harry Barnes of Scott Field, a member of the crew, and A. C. Maranville, a representative of the Goodrich Tire and Rubber Co., Akron, O., who was a passenger, were injured in jumping from the doomed ship. They were the only persons on board at the time of 10 who made the trip from Scott Field to Dayton yesterday. They suffered a broken ankle. They were taken to a Dayton hospital.

Craft Had Broken Loose.

Maj. Harold H. Strauss of McCook Field, president of the Board of Investigation, told the Post-Dispatch today that it appeared that static electricity with which the gas bag was surcharged caused the hydrogen, that filled the bag and gave the craft its buoyancy, to burst into flame, after the craft had broken loose in a terrific wind and struck a steel mooring mast.

The army and navy are experimenting with helium, a nonflammable gas, for airships.

"TC-1 landed about 5 p. m.," Maj. Strauss said. "A terrific wind and electrical storm came up. The landing crew was standing on the ground, over long distance telephone today that it appeared that static electricity with which the gas bag was surcharged caused the hydrogen, that filled the bag and gave the craft its buoyancy, to burst into flame, after the craft had broken loose in a terrific wind and struck a steel mooring mast."

The wind was blowing about 50 miles an hour and the ship broke steel mooring mast, about 50 feet high and 300 feet away from the first. The impact tore open the bag and static electricity, which must have accumulated on the bag, probably ignited the gas. I don't know why the two men had remained in the car."

Maj. Strauss said the board might complete its investigation today or tomorrow. He was commended for the C-2, which was destroyed by fire at Brooks Field, San Antonio, Tex., last year.

"Grounded" on Steel Pole.

Scott Field officers explained that static electricity gathers on the balloon cloth of which gas bags are made, during electrical storms, and may be discharged by being "grounded." A steel pole set in the earth makes an effectual "ground." They suggested that lightning might have struck the ship, but in the light of Maj. Strauss' statement this hardly appears likely.

When TC-1 landed at the Dayton Field office of those on board alighted. Sgt. Barnes and Maranville may have remained on board to make some adjustment of the mechanism, planning to descend by rope. When the craft struck the second mooring mast there was a great flash all over the craft's surface. Barnes and Maranville leaped from the car to the ground, about 40 feet. In a few minutes the wreckage settled to earth. Today all that remains is a twisted mass of blackened framework.

The accident occurred close to the hangar of the Barling bomber, world's largest airplane, recently built at Wright Field. Lightning struck another hangar, but no damage was caused. TC-1 left Scott Field for a training flight at 10:30 a. m. yesterday. The intention being to remain at Wright Field over night and make the return trip today. The distance between the two fields is about 325 miles and the average speed of the flight, therefore, was more than 30 miles an hour.

Those on Board.

Those on board were Lieut. (Jed) A. Kuntz, pilot in command; Lieut. Ira Koenig, assistant pilot; Capt. W. B. Mayer and Lieut. C. M. Brown, Jr. Jordan and W. J. Flood, staff officers; Sgt. Barnes, Sgt. Francis Adams and Private Gerald Adams, engineers, and Maranville, who has been doing experiments work at Scott Field and was returning to Akron.

TC-1 was built by the Goodrich Tire and Rubber Co., Akron, and was completed last April.

Plans were to use TC-1 in numerous cross-country trips to train pilots and engineers, and possibly in longer journeys of transcontinental

200,000 cubic feet, and was 136 feet long and 46 feet across. From top of bag to bottom of car was 59 feet.
Two Hispano-Suiza motors, with total horsepower of 240, moved the craft. The car, like the sidewheels of a steamboat. They were capable of producing a speed of 60 miles an hour. The car had comfortable chairs for pilots and longitudinal cushioned seats for passengers. The bag was of silver-gray color.

AC-1, a new ship with inclosed car, which recently arrived at Scott Field, took off for Wright Field at 8:35 a. m. today to bring the crew of the wrecked ship home.
AC-1, A-5, which is a "towing ship" and the "pony blimp" are the only ships remaining in service of Scott Field now. TC-2, a sister ship to TC-1, being built at Akron, is to be taken by a Scott Field crew to be stationed at the Aberdeen (Md.)
proving grounds.

PRAYERS FOR DIVINE AID IN FIGHT ON BOLL WEEVIL.

South Carolina Governor in Proclamation Declares Belief That Pest Was Sent as a Judgment.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 7.—Gov.
McLeod today called upon the people of South Carolina to unite next Sunday in asking divine aid in their battle against the boll weevil.
Declaring this belief that the pest was sent as a judgment on the people not only for their sins, but as a means of bringing them back to Him, the chief executive in a proclamation designated Sunday as a day of fasting and prayer to God "for deliverance from the ravages of the boll weevil, in such way or ways as may seem wise to His, either by direct supernatural intervention or through the workings of natural causes which are under His control."

INQUESTS INTO TWO DEATHS

Woman Succumbs Suddenly in Yard
And Gardener Dies While at Work.
Inquests have been ordered into the deaths of two persons who died suddenly yesterday.

Mrs. Mary Miller, 68 years old, of 5007 Enright avenue, while walking in the yard of her home at 2:30 p. m., fell unconscious and was dead when a doctor, summoned by her daughter, Mrs. Lucy Reusinger, arrived. The daughter told the police her mother apparently had been in the best of health.

Mathews King, 43, of 6134 Morgan-ford road, a gardener, at work in a field adjoining his home, suddenly expired shortly before noon. He had not been ill, his wife told the police.

St. Louisans to Attend Convention.
Delegations from this city, Kansas City, St. Joseph and Wichita, Kan., will leave here Saturday night for Atlanta, Ga., to attend the annual convention of the Credit Men's Association, which will convene Monday morning. Before entraining for Atlanta, the visiting delegations will be entertained by the St. Louis delegation, which is said to be the largest ever sent from here, composed of 41 members.

10 YEARS 'SEVERE,' SO JURY ACQUITS IN AX MURDER CASE

Daniel F. Tracy, 41, Accused of Killing Theodore Sanders March 24, Freed at Trial.

Daniel F. Tracy, 41 years old, a shoemaker, residing at 415 South Twenty-third street, was acquitted of a second degree murder charge by a jury in Circuit Judge Calhoun's court yesterday.

Tracy, with Frank Monahan, 31, of the Twenty-fourth street address, who faces a separate trial, were accused of the murder of Theodore Sanders, a third resident of the Twenty-fourth street house. Sanders' body, badly cut and beaten, was found in the house on the night of March 24. An ax was nearby.

Tracy and Monahan were asleep in an adjoining room. The three men had been drinking together earlier in the night. A brother of Sanders testified that he had seen Tracy get up from the kitchen.

Tracy testified that he knew nothing of what had happened, as he had been intoxicated. The jury returned its verdict after an hour's deliberation. Members of it said that, while they considered that Tracy was deserving of some punishment, they considered the minimum sentence of 10 years in the penitentiary too severe.

$50,000 FIRE DAMAGE AT FURNITURE STORAGE WAREHOUSE

Blaze of Undetermined Origin Wrecked Building at 1540 South
Broadway and Its Contents.

Fire of undetermined origin broke out at 8:45 o'clock last night in a warehouse at 1540 South Broadway, valued by Harry Rosen of 3533 Crittenden street as a furniture storage place. Rosen estimated the damage at $50,000 to stock and building.

A blaze that started in a corridor at the plant of the Mississippi Valley Steel Co., 811 Park avenue, caused $2000 damage to buildings in the "back yard" at 6 p. m. yesterday.

WOULD IDENTIFY MRS. CROKER AS MARONE'S WIFE

attorney given in 1907. He had visited his father yearly in Ireland.
When his father was in New York for Mrs. Croker's funeral, continued the witness, the elder Croker expressed his satisfaction at the terms of her will, saying it was proper for her to leave her money to her children, and that he intended to do the same. When the witness heard that his father intended contracting a second marriage he advised him to postpone it for six months.

Bula Edmundson, said the witness, was introduced to him by his father at the Democratic Club 77 New York as an Indian princess. She was entertained at the house of the witness the day before the wedding.
The Croker children did not attend the wedding, because their father had requested them not to do so.

Before the couple sailed for Ireland, added Croker, they made a joint "trip" trip, leaving everything to the witness, who objected to this, fearing friction with the other children.

The first sign of trouble, Croker testified, was a letter written Nov.
5, 1917, by his father, making unfounded charges. He had never received a penny for the work done for his father, he said.

The physician's first wife divorced him, he divorced the second and the third divorced him, he once told a Post-Dispatch reporter.

Soviet Annuls Rabbi's Sentences.

MOSCOW, June 7.—(By Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—The sentences of six months' imprisonment at hard labor imposed upon Rabbi Schneer-son and Perlov of Gomel for performing rabbinical functions which the court held to be properly the function of the state, have been annulled, owing to the rabbi's advanced age.

DERBY LUCK PUTS $160,000 IN LAP OF WOMAN LABORER

Hard-Working British Millhand Wins Sweepstakes Prize
Sought by 200,000 Players.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 7.—A little sweepstakes ticket, combined with Derby luck, has placed a fortune of $32,000 (about $160,000), in the lap of a Yorkshire woman mill worker, Mrs.
Nellie Ford by name, who drew Papyrus in the Otley Club's $80,000 sweepstakes, in which more than 200,000 players had taken a chance.

The third prize of $16,000 and the third of $8000 were won by two men of moderate means. Several others have been lifted from penury to easy street by the luck of drawing winning horses in the numerous other sweepstakes held in England.
Mrs. Ford is described as a hard-working woman who has spent most of her life working in a mill in order to help support her large family.

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR DISCARDS LEAGUE THAT SUPPORTED HIM

Executive Plans to Create Farmer-Labor Body of His Own Devising.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 7.—
The Farmer-Labor Reconstruction League of Oklahoma, whose banner was carried to an overwhelming victory in last year's state elections, lay in the scrap heap today, discarded by Gov. J. C. Walton for a Farmer-Labor medium of his own devising.

In turning away from the leaders of the reconstruction league, who since the inception of the organization two years ago, have put themselves forward as the spokesmen of the Farmer-Labor groups, Gov. Walton yesterday summoned a conference of the executives of the leading farmer and union labor organizations whom he declared were the democratically elected and "authorized" representatives of the individual farmers and workers of Oklahoma. The Governor will meet the executives at the capital on June 13 to discuss plans for political action.

It was the leaders of the reconstruction league who demanded that George Wilson, their first state manager, and a former Non-Partisan League worker in North Dakota, be appointed to the presidency of Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College.

A storm of protest preceded and followed Wilson's appointment; the State Department of the American Legion pronouncing him "unfit for any post of public trust" and certain of Walton's official family bitterly opposing the appointment.

Bar and Liquor Put Ashore.

By the Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 7.—The Mexican states liner Oxnaca, which put into port here yesterday from Salina Cruz, avoided trouble with officers enforcing the prohibition amendment by stopping at Ensenada, where the commander of the Oxnaca had the entire bar and its stock put ashore. They will be picked up when the Oxnaca makes her return trip from San Francisco.

NAVY FLYER BREAKS 2 RECORDS

Lieut. Schur Sets New Sealplane Duration and Distance Marks.

By the Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 7.—A United States Navy flyer yesterday broke two world's sealplane records.
Lieut. M. A. Schur broke the duration record held by Capt. Bustin Blard of the Royal British Flying Corps, and also smashed the distance record held by him. Capt.
Blard's duration record was 1 hour
34 minutes and 51 seconds. Lieut.
Schur remained aloft in his toped plane for 10 hours 31 minutes and 31 seconds. Capt. Blard's distance was 23.39 miles, made last year at Naples. Lieut. Schur's distance today was 139.09 miles.

Webster Groves School Wins Banner.

The Holy Redeemer School, Webster Groves, Mo., won the banner awarded by the Webster Groves Post 172, American Legion, in the Meno-rial Day patriotic demonstration.
The banner has been won by this school for three consecutive years and is now the permanent property of the school. The award was on the score of its attendance, uniformity of dress, the carrying of the flag, and the manner of marching.

PAYMASTER IN UNION ARMY DIES AT 101

Thomas A. Theobald Came to St. Louis 38 Years Ago—Resided Here With Daughter.

By the Associated Press.

Thomas Alexander Theobald, 101 years old, who was paymaster in the Union Army during the Civil War, died of infirmities of age yesterday at the home of Gertrude A. Ward, 228 East Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves, where he had been visiting.

Since his retirement from business activity, 30 years ago, he had resided with a daughter, Mrs.
Walter Poleman, 3720 Clemens avenue.

He was born
der Theobald in Lexington, Ky., in 1821. After graduating from college he entered the banking business and a few years later established himself in the wholesale grocery business with interests in Lexington, Lexington and Frankfort, Ky. He came to St. Louis 38 years ago, and for eight years was connected with the Scudder-Gale Grocery Co. here.

He is survived by his two daughters, Mrs. Poleman, wife of the president of the Western Tie and Timber Co., and Mrs. Adeline T.
Henry of the Sterling Apartments, Union boulevard and Pershing avenue; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Burial probably will be in Kentucky. Arrangements for the funeral are awaiting the return of Mr.
Poleman, who is out of the city.

Appointment of Mrs. Emma D.
Mohrstadt as Sheriff of St. Louis to succeed her husband, who died last week, is being urged by many Republicans today, following an opinion by the Attorney-General yesterday that only the Governor has power to fill the vacancy and announcement by President Neun of the Board of Aldermen of his belief that the board will not seek to call a special election, as planned.

Mrs. Mohrstadt today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the question of her appointment has been suggested to her by many persons and that she is willing to accept the appointment. It is understood that in the event of her appointment Oscar
F. Mohrstadt, brother of the late Sheriff, will act as chief deputy. A position he held under his brother.

"I agree with those who have talked with me that it would be the proper thing for the Governor to appoint me to fill the vacancy," Mrs.
Mohrstadt said. "The office has earned a large amount of fees under my husband which have not been collected and which I feel should properly go to my husband's estate."

Mrs. Mohrstadt is 52 years old.
She has two married daughters and an unmarried daughter living at home. There are two grandchildren.
She has taken an active, although not prominent, interest in politics for a number of years, and was particularly active among women during her husband's campaign.

Alderman Uhleneyer of the Fifteenth Ward introduced a resolution at today's session of the board asking the Governor to appoint Oscar Mohrstadt. It was referred to the Committee on Resolutions. The board will meet again Tuesday, when it is expected, the resolution will be considered.

City Collector Edmond Koeln, a close political friend of the Governor, as told in late editions of the Post-Dispatch yesterday, said that he will ask the Governor to appoint Mrs. Mohrstadt. The Governor said yesterday he did not know what he would do in the matter. He had not heard from Koeln at that time.

COUNCIL REPORT EXPLAINED

No Traffic Cases Were Nolle Prossed
In Judge Matthews' Court.

Girard C. Varnum, secretary-manager of the St. Louis Safety Council, stated today that the Law Enforcement Committee of the Council, in its report May 23, attributing court the number of automobile accidents in the city, laid stress upon the fact that no traffic cases had been nolle prossed in Police Judge Matthews' court.

Secretary of State Board of Agriculture Suggests Means of Arousing More Vigorous Spirit.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 7.—Citing California as a land of loyal sons and daughters and urging that the time is now at hand for Missouri to strengthen a greater State pride, Jewell Mayes, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, issued a statement yesterday advocating more active loyalty to Missouri institutions, industries and products.

"Missouri needs to get busy to constructively encourage and foster greater loyalty, expressed in a more vigorous Missouri spirit," Mayes declared. "The Missouri State Board of Agriculture has for a number of years been encouraging sentiment for Missouri grown, Missouri milled, Missouri mined and Missouri made products."

"Missouri is a great soft wheat State, a great producer of as good soft winter wheat as is grown in the world, but how little do we see and hear this splendid advertising point referred to in agricultural or trade circles in Missouri? Missouri milled flour from Missouri grown wheat is a slogan policy in which is crystallized one phase of a practical spirit, combining the best interests of farmers, millers and dealers. Missouri people should be made better acquainted with the merits and advantages of their own Missouri grown soft wheat flour."

POLICE CHIEF, CAUGHT SELLING LIQUOR, TURNS REFORMER

He Must Wait Till He Gets Out of New Jersey Jail Before New Regime Begins.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Prohibition may have failed in New York and Washington, but the township of Secaucus, Hudson County, N. J., is soon to be as dry as the Sahara if Chief of Police Lowry carries out his reform plans. The reform program must await the release of Lowry from Hudson County jail, where he is serving a 10-day sentence for bootlegging. He was sentenced Monday by Federal Judge Lynch in Newark after he pleaded guilty.

There is some doubt whether he will be permitted to remain in office as chairman of the Police Committee and as a member of the town council. Chief Lowry declares his reformation is so complete that he will fight impeachment. He is through selling liquor, he says, and is eager to begin being the reform chief of the township where he and his kin have been in the liquor business for years.

At first the chief denied he sold liquor. Then he confessed. He followed this with the announcement that, having himself reformed, he intended to reform Secaucus.

National Park in Alaska Sought.

By the Associated Press.

JUNEAU, Alaska, June 7.—When President Harding comes to Alaska, Gov. Scott C. Bone of the territory will ask him to declare Tongass Island a national park, the Governor announced today. The Governor desires particularly to preserve a statue of Abraham Lincoln on top of a 30-foot totem pole near the site of old Fort Tongass. The statue was carved by an Indian more than 50 years ago. The Indian did his work photograph of Lincoln. The statue is a small one, off the southern mainland point of Alaska.

Over 55 million packages of this new kind of soap were used last year

For every washday method soaking—boiling—in washing machines

Already used literally by millions of women. And yet it was only three years ago that it was first brought out.

You wonder what is the secret of this remarkable growth. For just consider what a tremendous force of habit Rinso had to meet. It had to gain the confidence of women trained for generations to the long-drawn-out methods of a bar soap washday.

Mothers, grandmothers and great-grandmothers had rubbed and scrubbed to get clothes clean—rubbing soap on all the soiled places and then rubbing the heavy wet clothes on the washboard.

Is it any wonder then that when Rinso came into women's lives it swept everything before it? For Rinso spares you the hardest part of that age-old drudgery of washday—the constant backbreaking rubbing. That is why millions of packages of it are used every month.

Soaking takes the place of rubbing

Just soaking with this new kind of soap gently loosens all the dirt. Harmful rubbing is done away with.

You are not only saved from weary, back-aching work but also your clothes are protected from the wear and tear of hard rubbing. Rinso dissolves instantly and sends its soapy suds through every thread and fibre, flushing out all the dirt. Only spots where someone has actually ground in the dirt—neck bands, cuff edges and the like—will need a light rubbing with a little dry Rinso.

Has already taken place of bar soap

You will find that Rinso is ideal for any wash-day method you use. You do not have to change any of your usual steps—just use Rinso where you used to use bar soap.

If you like to boil your white cottons Rinso will give just the safe cleansing suds you need in the boiler. If you use a washing machine follow the advice of the big washing machine men—use Rinso.

Rinso takes the place of bar soap for all these different washday methods. It does the whole job.

As wonderful for the family wash as Lux is for fine things

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux to be just as remarkable for the regular weekly wash as Lux is for silks, woollens and all fine fabrics. With these two soaps—Lux and Rinso—the worst of your laundry problems are solved—you need never again do any hard rubbing.

However you do your wash, make it easy by using Rinso. Get it at any grocery or department store. It comes in two sizes—the regular size and the big new package. Made by the largest soapmakers in the world. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Follow the advice of leading washing machine manufacturers

—use this new kind of soap in your machine

COFFIELD WRITES:

"Tried out over a period equivalent to seven years' weekly use, Rinso did not corrode or injure the machine in any way. It can be used with absolute safety. Garments were not weakened by prolonged washings with Rinso."

GAINADAY SAYS:

"Rinso suds stand up permanently. They penetrate the water so that every garment is saturated with Rinso solution."

LAUN-DRY-ETTE WRITES:

"We found no little soapy particles floating around in the water in our tests with Rinso as we did with some of the other soaps. Twelve minutes was the average operating period with Rinso and not a single article had to be hand rubbed."

"1900" CATARACT SAYS:

"In solution it permeates the water so evenly that its cleansing action reaches every garment. Consequently we found that we were not obliged to do any rubbing either before or after operating the machine."

ROTAREX SAYS:

"We have tried out Rinso and other soaps—many of them good—in our machine, but for all round satisfaction we recommend Rinso."

MRS. HARRIS DENIES MERIWETHER WAS RETAINED BY HER

Defendant in Annulment Suit Says 'There Was Talk of Your Being Engaged, but You Were Not.'

'TRIED TO MAKE LOVE' AT HOTEL, SHE ASSERTS

Sued for $3000 Attorney's Fees by St. Louisan, She Testifies He Acted 'Like Chicken With Head Off.'

Mrs. Eleanor Elaine Lee Harris, defendant in a marriage annulment suit filed by her husband, Beverly D. Harris, former vice president of the National City Bank of New York and now president of the Monsanto Chemical Co. of St. Louis, gave her deposition yesterday in her suite at Hotel Statler in the suit Lee Meriwether, St. Louis attorney, has filed against her for $3000 attorney's fees.

Meriwether alleges he was retained to represent Mrs. Harris in the annulment suit and also to handle a proposed suit for slander which Mrs. Harris contemplated filing against her husband. This case was not filed.

Mrs. Harris denied she had retained Meriwether. "There was some talk of your being brought into the case when it came to an issue, but you were not," she testified.

Meriwether conducted the examination of Mrs. Harris. In reply to questions from him, Mrs. Harris told of meetings in New York and at Atlantic City in June, 1922, between Meriwether and herself.

She said that Meriwether drafted a letter which he asked her to copy and send to George Gordon Battle, New York lawyer, who was representing her, in which Battle was notified that he should not continue in the case. "You told me never under any circumstances to let anyone know you had written that letter or asked me to send it," Mrs. Harris said to Meriwether. The letter was sent but Battle continued in the case.

Says Wife Suggested Phone Call.
Meriwether asked if Mrs. Harris had not telephoned to him at St. Louis from New York in June, 1922. "Yes, I did, because your wife telephoned to me from the Pennsylvania Hotel, immediately upon her arrival in New York, asking me to call you and saying that you were very anxious to hear from me," Mrs. Harris replied.

"You were like a madman; like a chicken with its head cut off, running around trying to get on the case, whereas nobody wanted you," Mrs. Harris testified in answer to other questions by Meriwether. "When you were told that you would be employed to take depositions in the South and West you said you didn't care to do that. You wanted to be here in the limelight, where the real money is, you said."

Mrs. Harris' testimony frequently was not responsive to questions. She countered the statement to Meriwether that "you were making love to me and flirting with me at the Ambassador Hotel." She referred, she explained, to a date in June, 1922, when both were in Atlantic City. Meriwether did not comment on this remark and proceeded with the examination.

Tells of Alleged Love-Making.
Later when asked by Meriwether if he had not examined many papers and documents during the better part of a week in her apartment.

Mrs. Harris' testimony frequently was not responsive to questions. She countered the statement to Meriwether that "you were making love to me and flirting with me at the Ambassador Hotel." She referred, she explained, to a date in June, 1922, when both were in Atlantic City. Meriwether did not comment on this remark and proceeded with the examination.

sons and you did write two short letters. You were working on an answer in the annulment case, which my attorneys threw out. They said it was laughable and that you didn't know the law.

"You spent most of the time those two afternoons making love to me and telling me of the other women you had," Mrs. Harris said.

"Did I tell you about the other women while I was making love to you?" Meriwether asked.

"Yes, you did," replied Mrs. Harris.

Replying to questions concerning payment for attorneys, Mrs. Harris testified her husband has paid $1000 to her for attorneys to date.

"But I have spent $24,000 in the case," she added. "The National City Bank is back of me in my fight against Beverly D. Harris."

Mrs. Harris was cross-examined about her assertion regarding the National City Bank.

"The National City Bank is back of me sentimentally—it's none of your business how they are back of me. I have paid out $24,000 in this case and it's none of your business where it came from. I didn't mean that they were backing me financially." "How did you mean?" she was asked.

"It's none of your business how I meant it."

Pressed further for an explanation.

Explains How Enlarged Veins Can Be Reduced

Often times Veins Burst and Cause Much Suffering, Expense and Loss of Employment

Many people have become dependent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunched.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it at home as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moore's Emerald Oil is very concentrated and a bottle lasts a long time—that's why it is a most inexpensive treatment. It has brought much comfort to worried people all over the country and is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and always bear in mind that anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. All druggists can supply you.

tion, she said:
"I did not say that the National City Bank is back of me—don't you say I did—that is, in a financial way. However, I don't suppose they'd object to the world knowing they were back of me in any way. No one is for Beverly Harris."

Contract of Employment.

Most of the remarks by Mrs. Harris were interposed during introduction, as exhibits, of numerous letters and telegrams between the witness and Meriwether. Some of them Mrs. Harris said she could not identify. All pertained to employment of Meriwether in the case or to matters directly touching upon the case.

The original contract of employment specified that Meriwether was to receive one-half of all fees allowed by the Court. Later, Meriwether wrote that he would be satisfied with a third of the fees. This letter is alleged by Mrs. Harris' attorney to abrogate the original contract. The correspondence indicated that Mrs. Harris and Meriwether were in frequent communication in June last year, but that her affairs were handled by New York attorneys when the first active steps in the annulment suit were taken in the fall.

Mrs. Harris, while testifying, wore a tan afternoon gown with a turbaned headpiece draped with a two-yard length of tan lace.

The deposition was taken without supervision of a commissioner or representative of the court. Counsel for both sides agreed that no objections would be made concerning testimony or exhibits and that the court would later be asked to rule upon the materiality and competency of testimony presented. Meriwether indicated he would ask to have stricken from the deposition many of the statements volunteered by Mrs. Harris.

Meriwether today denied the charge of Mrs. Harris that he flirted with her or made love to her. He said her statements on that subject were "ridiculously absurd." He attributed the statements by Mrs. Harris to nervousness.

Meriwether's deposition Saturday. Meriwether's deposition in his claim for fees will be given Saturday at 10 a. m., at a place to be decided.

Mrs. Harris said yesterday she is devoting practically all her time to preparation for defense of the annulment suit. Dispatches from New York today said that other depositions are to be taken and that trial of the case probably will not be called before autumn.

As is known, the marriage of Harris to Miss Eleanor Elaine Lee, formerly of Indianapolis, Miss., took place in St. Louis, July 21, 1915. Harris has charged that his wife is of illegitimate birth, which she admits, and that she deceived him on this point before the marriage.

COFFIN VIEWS AERIAL FLIVVERS AS MENACE

Shoestring Flying by Unskilled Pilots Should Be Regulated, He Believes.

The 1923 meet of the National Aeronautic Association, which includes the Pulitzer trophy airplane speed race, to be held in St. Louis Oct. 1-3, during Veiled Prophet week, will not be in any sense a local event, but will attract the interest of the world, said Howard E. Coffin, automobile engineer and manufacturer, president of the association, who was here yesterday to inspect the aeronautic facilities of St. Louis.

He pointed out that America, to keep abreast of commercial development in world affairs must have a great civil and commercial aviation system, that could be transformed over night into a great military defense unit in case of an emergency.

Coffin was accompanied by Samuel S. Bradley, general manager of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of New York; Hugh W. Robertson, Coffin's assistant; Luther Bell, secretary of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, and Evan J. David, also of New York. They were guests yesterday of the St. Louis Air Board at a luncheon at the Missouri Athletic Association, before which they inspected St. Louis Field, near Bridgeton, St. Louis County, where the air races are to be held.

"I do not believe we shall ever come to the time when John Smith will have an aerial flivver," Coffin said. "The great development is coming through corporation activities. There will be passage over established airlines, operated by responsible companies under Government license and supervision. Shoestring flying in flivvers by unskilled pilots is a menace to this development just now."

CITES GRAIN EXCHANGE AS EXAMPLE OF EFFICIENCY

Chicago Board of Trade Official Says Middleman's Profits in Industry Are Very Low.

The high efficiency of the grain exchange has reduced the toll of grain between producer and consumer to where no other staple foodstuff is distributed at so low a cost. John R. Mauff, executive vice president of the Chicago Board of Trade, today told the American Feed Manufacturers' Association, in convention at Hotel Statler.

Discussing the functions of the modern grain exchange, Mauff declared even a superficial examination would show that the profits of the middleman in the grain business are very low as compared with other industries.

"When the housewife pays $1 for bread, the grain dealer and flour miller together receive only 2 4-10 cents," he said. "Ninety-six and six-tenths cents is shared by the wheat grower, the railroads, the baker and the bread retailer. It is not difficult to trace the consumer's dollar in the grain trading."

"The grain exchange is a splendid example of American efficiency in commerce and industry."

MORE THAN EIGHT MILLION PACKAGES OF BLACK AND WHITE ARE SOLD YEARLY

Sale Each Year Growing by Leaps and Bounds, Is of Tremendous Importance to Women.

Although placed on sale only a few years ago, such complexion necessities as Black and White Cleansing and Peroxide Cream, as well as many others, are now outselling most of the old and better known articles, and for no other reason than their unusual merit, uniform quality and popular low prices.

Many druggists and dealers who sell toilet articles say that they have never seen the equal of Black and White Beauty Creations for solving the skin and complexion problem for old as well as young women who had never before been able to find the right method of caring for their skin.

A few years ago Black and White Beauty Creations were unknown. Today they are selling at the rate of more than twenty thousand packages a day for every one of the 365 days in the year or a total of more than eight million packages a year.

From the biggest stores in the large cities, to the smallest cross-roads country store miles away from even a railroad, Black and White Beauty Creations are being sold in ever-increasing quantities, with the result that the manufacturers have been forced to move into larger quarters three different times during the last four years. Even the floor space of 100,000 square feet, are taxed to full capacity in the effort to keep up with orders received every day from all parts of the country.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismuth Magnesia and take a teaspoonful 15 to 30 minutes after each meal.

Water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and acid right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bismuth Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

ONLY WITNESSES
IN HARRIS CASE

Convicted Robber, Granted New Trial, Will Not Face Charges Again Until Two Missing Men Are Found.

Eugene Harris, alias Charles Clarkson, robber suspect and associate of gangsters, who was convicted of first degree robbery last October, sentenced to five years in the penitentiary and then granted a new trial, is out on bond and may never come to trial again because the only witnesses against him, two co-partners in the crime, have disappeared since Circuit Attorney Sidener ordered a habeas corpus of the indictments against them.

Circuit Attorney Sidener, when questioned by a Post-Dispatch reporter about the circumstances, disclaimed any responsibility for this apparent miscarriage of justice, contending the State was placed at a disadvantage by the granting of a new trial and that his office had in no way been derelict in its duties.

The case against Harris remains on the docket, but has been "generally continued," meaning that it will not be called up again until the State has found its two witnesses against him and in the meantime he remains at liberty, virtually a free man.

Has Criminal Record.

Harris' criminal record includes arrest on a charge of passing worthless checks in 1919, for which there was no prosecution; arrest on suspicion of robbery at Webster Groves in May, 1922, no prosecution, and suspected of having been in the room where "Lucky Bill" Crow was murdered the night of April 23 last. The reason for this suspicion was that Harris was shot the same night. However, he claimed he was in another part of the city when shot.

The crime with which Harris was charged was committed the night of Dec. 16, 1921, when four men in an automobile, held up and robbed Murf F. Maples, of 1138 Blenden place, a druggist, of $31 cash and jewelry valued at $350, as he was about to enter the driveway at his home.

Maples later identified Louis Franke, 5054 Maple avenue; Eugene Quinn, 4220 Linton street, and Robert Reinke, 724 Bayard avenue, as the robbers, they having been found in an automobile bearing a license number given to the police by Maples.

But the police ascertained that Harris, Joseph E. Dooley and Ralph W. Kerchaval actually committed the robbery and arrested them. Maples could not identify any of them, although Kerchaval confessed to the police that Harris planned and committed the robbery and that he and Dooley accompanied Harris at the time. After Kerchaval's confession Dooley confessed, corroborating Kerchaval's statement.

Believing from these confessions that Harris, Dooley and Kerchaval had committed the robbery and that Maples was mistaken in his identification of the other men, Circuit Attorney Sidener nolle prossed the indictments against Franke and Quinn, but held Reinke on information that he had driven the robbers' car.

Three Men Indicted.

Harris, Dooley and Kerchaval were indicted for first degree robbery and their case assigned to Division No. 10, March 31, 1922. On April 4 it was transferred to Division No. 12, Judge Hogan's court. Dooley and Kerchaval were arraigned April 5, pleading not guilty, and the case was set for May 24. Harris not having been arrested, the case was continued for the term and a severance from Harris taken by Dooley and Kerchaval.

Harris then was arrested; a demurrer for him was overruled, and he was arraigned June 13, pleading not guilty. The same day Dooley and Kerchaval withdrew their former pleas and entered pleas of guilty. Sentence was deferred.

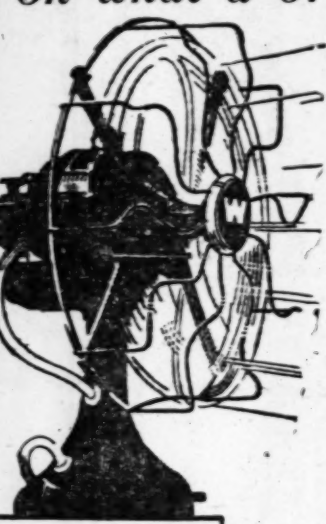

Harris went to trial June 14, and the following day was found guilty by a jury and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. The witnesses against him were Dooley and Kerchaval. Maples could not identify Harris as one of the robbers, nor did he identify Dooley or Kerchaval.

On June 18 former Assistant Circuit Attorney Verne Lacy, attorney for Harris, filed a motion for a new trial and arrest of judgment, setting forth that Judge Hogan had admitted incompetent evidence; had failed to sustain a demurrer to the indictment; had failed to discharge the jury on account of certain remarks by the Prosecutor, who was Albert L. Schweitzer; had failed to reprimand the Prosecutor for directing certain remarks at the defendant's counsel; that the Court had permitted the Prosecutor to argue with the jury that Dooley and Kerchaval had been intimidated, and that the Court had erred by his misconduct in illegally commenting upon the testimony and giving his judgment as to what he believed certain witnesses had shown by the testimony in the colloquy between the Court and defendant's counsel.

Lacy's motion also contended that the Court had erred in continually, throughout the whole trial of the case, indicating by his manner of gesture, facial expressions and general attitude an antagonistic disposition toward the defendant in the trial of said cause.

On June 23 Dooley and Kerchaval again changed their pleas to not guilty, and the next action in the case was Oct. 6, when Judge Hogan granted the Harris motion for a new

On Nov. 7 the cases against Dooley and Kerchaval were dismissed by Circuit Attorney Sidener and they were released from jail, as they had been since their arrest in January. Harris had been on bond.

On Jan. 18 last Harris' case came up for retrial before Judge Grimm, but the State was given a continuance for a term to get the witnesses—Dooley and Kerchaval. The case came up again March 22, but Harris was not in court and his bond was forfeited. This forfeiture was made April 24, when he appeared for trial. May 15, it was learned that Dooley and Kerchaval had disappeared, and that efforts of the Circuit Attorney to locate them had failed.

It was continued another 29 days and then continued "generally." Judge Hogan, when seen yesterday, said the trial of the case was attended by constant wrangling of Sidener and Lacy, during which irrelevant matters got before the jury that neither Dooley nor Kerchaval had a police record; that many persons, some of prominence, came forward to intercede for them; that they had been duped into being present at the robbery by Harris, and that the nol-prossed the cases against them as a moral obligation, as they had kept faith with him in convicting Harris.

Dooley and Kerchaval laid in jail from January to November, said the Circuit Attorney. They aided the State at the risk of their lives, when they knew we had no case against them without their own testimony. Maples could not and did not identify them or Harris. The State had to rely entirely upon Dooley and Kerchaval.

Promised to Be on Hand.

Their testimony convicted Harris, and I was amazed when Judge Hogan wanted a new trial. It had required months of urging to induce Dooley and Kerchaval to testify against Harris, because they were afraid of being killed if they did so, but they stood by the State and I could not more by obligation to them and send them in jail another six months even though Harris had been given a new trial. They promised me that they would be available for the new trial, and having kept the faith with me before, I had no reason to feel that they would run off.

Dooley did partially keep his word. He kept in touch with me until two weeks before the case was set for retrial, last January, and I understood he is in Kansas. We have never heard from Kerchaval.

Sidener added that he could have kept Dooley and Kerchaval in jail indefinitely, as they had been unable to furnish $10,000 bail, but he said his office must keep agreements in such cases. He declared the conviction of Harris could not have been had without the testimony of Dooley and Kerchaval, who, he believes, probably left St. Louis through fear of being killed by gangsters.

DOOLEY FREED ONLY WITNESSES IN HARRIS CASE

On Nov. 7 the cases against Dooley and Kerchaval were dismissed by Circuit Attorney Sidener. They were released from jail, where they had been since their arrest in January. Harris had been on bond.

On Jan. 18 last Harris' case came before Judge Grimm. The State was given a continuance for a term to get the witnesses. Dooley and Kerchaval. May 15, it was learned that Dooley and Kerchaval had disappeared, and that efforts of the State Attorney to locate them had failed.

It was continued another 20 days and then continued "generally." Judge Hogan, when seen yesterday, said the trial of the case was attended by constant wrangling of Dooley and Lacy, during which irrelevant matters got before the jury that he believed might have prejudiced jurors against the defense.

He said Lacy "lost his head" in the case and that he was on the stand at one time, citing Lacy for contempt of court. An important matter that moved him in granting the continuance was the fact that the prosecutor attempted to show that Harris had threatened Dooley and Kerchaval with bodily harm if they testified against him.

Circuit Attorney Sidener said yesterday that neither Dooley nor Kerchaval had a police record; that many persons, some of prominence, came forward to intercede for them; that they had been duped into being present at the robbery by Harris, and that the no-prosecution decision, making them as a moral obligation, they had kept faith with him in convicting Harris.

Dooley and Kerchaval laid in jail from January to November, said the Circuit Attorney. "They added the state at the risk of their lives, when they knew we had no case against them without their own testimony. Harris could not and did not identify them or Harris. The State had to rely entirely upon Dooley and Kerchaval."

Promised to Be on Hand. Their testimony convicted Harris. "I was amazed when Judge Hogan wanted a new trial. THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Vaccinating Dogs for Rabies.

RABIES has commanded the attention of the oldest writers of medicine, the owners of high-bred dogs, state authorities, and health boards of the large cities. The fundamental research work on this disease, however, must be credited to Pasteur, who proved that the disease started in the central nervous system, and based on his experimental findings he developed a specific method of immunization, through which he established the possibility of immunizing dogs against the virus of rabies and likewise the treatment of man. Pasteur built up this method of immunization which is justly considered even today one of the greatest achievements in preventive medicine which saved tens of thousands of lives from one of the most feared and dreaded diseases of man and beast.

While the Pasteur method has proven, beyond a doubt, its usefulness for the control of this disease, it requires a great number of treatments to produce the desired immunity. It has never been used to any great extent in protecting dogs on account of the time it takes, and the number of treatments it requires to produce the desired immunity.

An important advance has been made by the one-injection method, by which it is possible to confer upon dogs an immunity against the exposure of rabies. These investigations of single treatment were made by the Japanese, Ameno and Doi. They proved out the single injection to effectively immunize dogs against rabies for a period of at least one year. The work of the Japanese investigators has been confirmed by some of America's best investigators along this line. Last year the State of Connecticut had an outbreak of rabies. When this outbreak appeared, it was reaching state-wide proportions, the quarantine method of use was used, but in addition the vaccinating of dogs with antirabies vaccine was waged. Since then the dog owners learned that rabies vaccine would prevent a dog from developing rabies if bitten by a rabid dog.

There have been 1522 dogs vaccinated against rabies in Connecticut. There are many diseases which may be confused with rabies. There are the dumb and furious. When in doubt consult a veterinarian about your dog. It requires one dog has been trained along this line to make a diagnosis. Many times a poor dog has been put to death because it was thought the dog had rabies. If you are fond of your dog, as your friend or maybe your children's pet or plaything, by all means have him vaccinated.

McKelvey Wants to Be Sheriff.

I HAVE read in recent editions of the daily papers about James N. McKelvey, who has stated that "his hat is in the ring" for the office of Sheriff, and who is trying in every conceivable way to step in the shoes of the sheriff. Tony Schuler has stated that Sheriff Mohrstadt is dying with that his brother, Oscar Mohrstadt, be appointed Sheriff should be respected, so that the dead man's family could reap the benefits to which they are entitled.

Mr. McKelvey is seeking to take the bread and butter out of the mouths of a dead man's family, for he should hide his face in shame. I am for Oscar Mohrstadt for Sheriff.

The Laundry Cliché.

CHARISM seems to have received a setback in Russia, only to crop out in the St. Louis Laundry Trust, the latest manifesto being a boast to 5 cents for laundering collars, and a refusal to accept collars unless accompanied by shirts. Of course, the latter may merely be a desire to ascertain whether the male portion of our population owns shirts, and if they are changed often enough to preserve the public health. Being of a statistical turn of mind, for the past week I have been making a collar census, as I have ambled around the downtown streets. The result shows that of a total of 2300 men, 1392, or about 60 per cent, wear soft collars. Undoubtedly the greater part of these soft collars are done up at home or sent to the family laundress. My survey made a convert of me. I had never worn a soft collar before, but immediately bought a dozen, which the laundress will do up for considerably less than a nickel.

Looks as if the greediness of the laundry owners had seared off the goose who were expected to lay the nickels.

No Pension for Renters.

I AM renting a seven-room house, paying $17.50 per month house rent. Now the landlord comes around with a raise to $18 per month. What are we poor people to do? We can't move because we haven't anywhere to move, and if we did it would be the same. Could not the Board of Aldermen pass some kind of law to protect the renters from such unjustifiable rent raising?

SMOKE ORDINANCE ECONOMY.

The long-awaited smoke ordinance has been introduced in the Board of Aldermen without other result than the apparent prospect that it will be allowed to sleep at least until the board returns from its summer recess Sept. 14. There remains time in which to pass the ordinance before adjournment on June 15. If it could be enacted at once the new department could be organized so as to become effective with the beginning of the autumnal season of heavy smoke production.

The time is ripe now for the passage of this ordinance, which is based on the experience of this and other cities, notably Pittsburgh. The old ordinance is ineffective, partly because of its terms but chiefly because it does not carry necessary enforcement machinery, including qualified inspectors.

When in St. Louis recently H. P. Moller, chief of the Bureau of Smoke Regulation of Pittsburgh, remarked that there was more smoke from the spouting kilns of the clay industry visible from the King's highway viaduct than is created in the whole Soho Valley of Pittsburgh, where there are 1000 smokestacks from steel mills. This smoke, carried by the almost incessant summer winds toward Forest Park, must have a blighting effect upon its vegetation. Similar smoke sources near Tower Grove Park and the Missouri Botanical Gardens often blanket that region in a haze.

The only discoverable objection to the ordinance is the scheduled cost of the enforcement clause which calls for $27,000 a year for salaries for a smoke commissioner, an assistant and eight inspectors. If pure economy were to determine the action of the board it would not hesitate to take speedy action. The sum required is not a bagatelle to the economies to be realized from effective smoke abatement. One industrial plant in St. Louis which had a coal bill of $225,000 a year and continually filled the sky with black smoke, by spending $10,000 on equipment and boiler changes, saved $100,000 a year in coal. Other instances of similar economies were cited by Victor J. Arbe, a consulting engineer, speaking before the Greater St. Louis Conference last March. The total loss to Pittsburgh due to smoke before its ordinance went into effect was estimated at $10,000,000 a year, divided under the heads of imperfect combustion, laundry bills, dry cleaning bills, exterior painting, sheet metal work, cleaning and renewing wall paper and lace curtains, artificial lighting, merchandise, extra precautionary measures and minor items.

This list does not include the intangible items of health and the devastating effect upon the lawns, parks, trees, flowers and shrubbery of the city.

Smoke elimination is, first of all, an economy. We may continue to breathe the smoke months or years longer, but every month's delay in abatement, which may be realized only by education, means loss which runs on the average into hundreds of thousands of dollars a month. Does public sentiment approve putting the smoke ordinance to sleep until autumn and perhaps delaying its effectiveness for many months?

The oil industry is not likely to get to first base with its complaint against taxes unless it can be shown, as may be the case, that the tax is all passed on to the flivver driver.

AGAIN THE RIVER TOUR.

Normalcy has returned to passenger traffic on the Mississippi. Service on the upper river was suspended by the Streckfus line in 1917 with the arrival of war conditions. The Streckfus boats then were converted into excursion steamers, leaving the field open for a new passenger line as soon as promising conditions should be restored.

The Mississippi & Ohio Steamboat Co. deems that the time has arrived for a restoration of the traffic. It has inaugurated an elegant service to St. Paul with the steamer Harry G. Drees. Last night the boat started on its initial voyage on the upper river and will depart from St. Louis through the summer season for its northern terminus every nine days.

The Post-Dispatch is a warm believer in the Mississippi as a freight carrier. It is no less an admirer of the great father stream as a scenic marvel. It is more proud of the Mississippi as a thing of beauty than it would be of the far-famed and much-traveled Hudson. The New York stream is a lordly dispensation of nature. The Mississippi is of the same pattern but is an endless, intractable giant in comparison.

Therefore, we rejoice to note a restoration of that service which, by the way, long preceded railroad travel to the Land of Clear Water, and we wish every reader to know of it that the service may be preserved as a St. Louis institution which we may talk about around the world.

GARY AND THE CHURCH MILITANT.

The churches refuse to be bunned by Judge Gary. When that gentleman, acting as spokesman for the American Iron and Steel Institute, reported that it was impracticable at this time to abolish the 12-hour day and elaborated the decision with a pious dissertation on the Bible, together with his unreserved approval of religion as a paying proposition, he was, obviously, propitiating the church people.

To their lasting credit, the churches have spurned the Gary flattery, rejected the institute's finding, indignantly repudiated the smug observations that the 12-hour day is not detrimental to employees, physically, mentally or morally, and riddled the insincerity of the entire report.

It is a powerful protest the churches have filed. Authorized by council and commissions of various sects, it expresses the sentiment of 50,000,000 Protestants, Catholics and Jews. It is too impressive a condemnation to be ignored or flouted. Nor is it likely that the steel corporation in this instance will undertake a demerit by assailing the character of the churches who have prepared this judgment, as they did in the case of the Inter-church investigation.

The 12-hour day is doomed. Its demise is hastened by this verdict and challenge of the church militant. Further, the church, in engaging in a fight for economic justice with such a powerful adversary as the United States Steel Corporation, is doing something that will appeal to the imagination of the nonchurch public. In recent years the church has been so immersed in negation, its battle cry has been such a long succession of don'ts, that its prestige has been seriously impaired. The constructive effort it is making as the enemy of a barbarous economic practice is evidence that the churches still possess virility and courage.

Lack of forethought in aeronautics can destroy in a second what it takes time and money a year to build.

THE DEATH OF DOUBT.

While sacred cavil and criticism, weigh and doubt the alternatives of wisdom in America's relation to the rest of the world, there is at least one functionary who has been freed of the bonds of human perplexity. For him there is no possible alloy of wisdom with error or error with wisdom. Right and wrong are fully defined and irrevocably allocated over the affairs of men and nations. This functionary of fatal certainty is Chairman Adams of the Republican National Committee.

"Unfortunately," he proclaims, "there are in this country interests, organizations and publications that may be generally depended upon to take the European side whenever conflict arises between America and European interests."

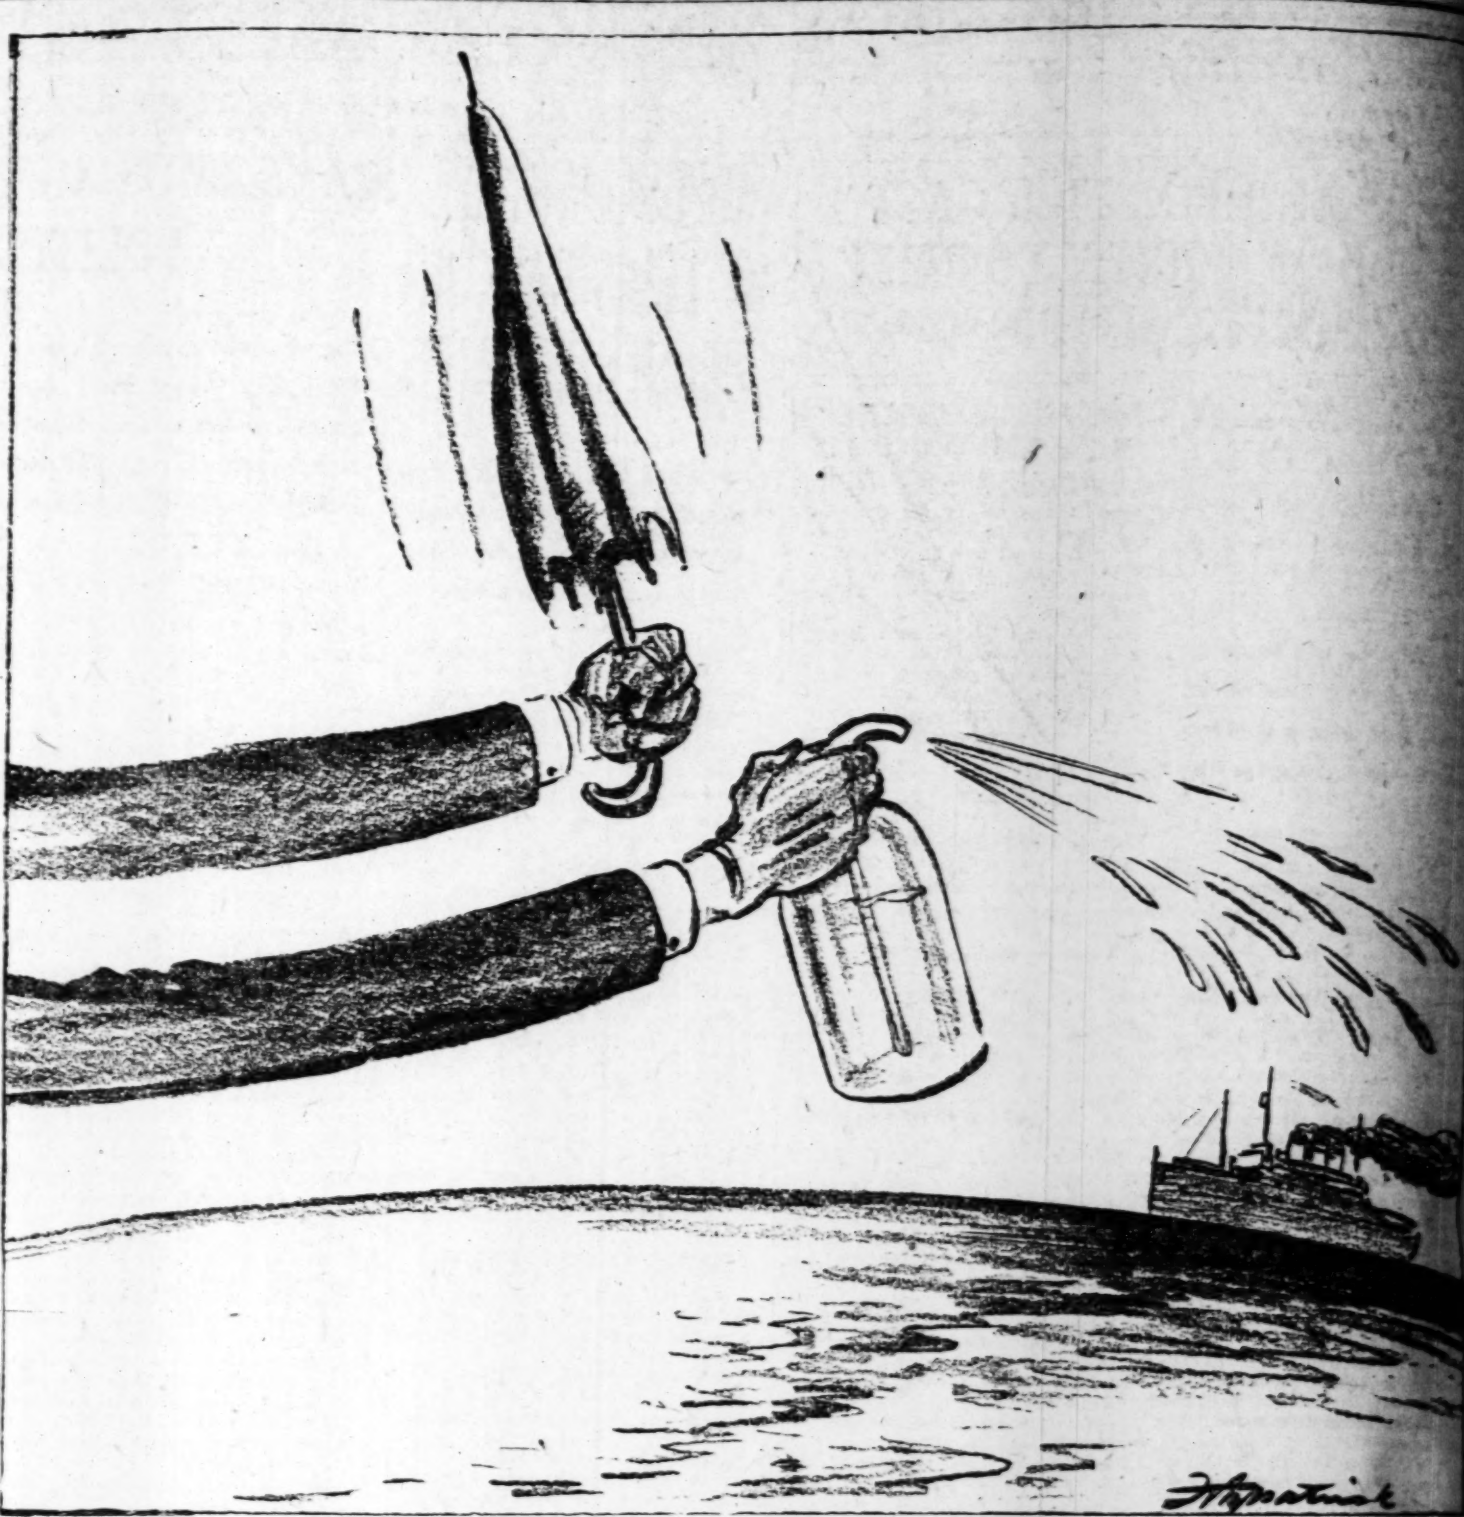

The real reason such interests and publications are displeased with the Republican national organization, says Mr. Adams, is because it stands with the 16,000,000 voters who in the 1920 election voted against the League of Nations. This vote, he declares, represented the mature and deliberate decision of the American people, and the American people are still, he says, without naming the source of this important and very voluminous information, of the same opinion.

Others there are who have been possessed of the notion that possibly in that 16,000,000 were a sprinkling of those who had followed Taft, Hughes, Hoover and others of a roster of 31 illustrious Republicans who appealed to the voters to support Harding in the delusion that the election of the Republican candidate was the surest way of getting into the League of Nations. Still others were of the definite impression that a change of party administration was a determining consideration.

But all, all are wrong. For the facts go to Mr. Adams. If you differ with him you are hostile to the interests of America. Your heart is in heathen Japan or perfidious Albion. Will the voters truly accept the Republican organization opinion of their utter stupidity?

The President wishes we could have fraternity among nations. So we have, but the President's own party has given us the black ball.

MOOD FOR EARLY SUMMER.

Let us walk under the drooping branches of the syringa, that the white petals may flutter to your black hair, that you may have a corymb of whiter blossoms with pale yellow fragrant hearts to crown you.

Should I kiss you now, beneath the green arching of the syringa, the aching perfume of these flowers will enmesh your senses as with a magic shawl of sun silk from which there is no escape—should I kiss you now you will have become mine forever, the swooning perfume distilled from the pale yellow hearts of syringa blossoms will have bound you forever to me.

No, I shall not kiss you, I shall not seal our love with the signet of a summer fragrance.

Rather I shall let the perfume of these clustered white flowers become an impalpable chain to bind you to the memory of my love.

If you look up into my face again, beloved, I shall not dare to leave you, chained to a memory. I shall cover your brown eyes with syringa petals—and kiss you!

ANALYTIKOS.

Sir: So the Kansas City Star thinks New York guilty of anarchy, does it? Well, the Star is beside itself. It has its being out in part of the country where people believe in prohibition as blindly as the Greeks believed in the gods and oracles. Secretaries joshing the Athenians about all the bunk in which they believed had no greater courage than the Star would require to oppose prohibition. Yet the Star does not feel that the Northern States which defied the Federal Government in the slavery fight were guilty of anarchy. This is because it feels differently about prohibition. Wherefore this rubbish as to New York and her Governor. The drys will have to keep sweeter than that. Ours is a democracy in which the people have the right to do what they will. There is no way in which that right can be withdrawn. The drys seem to think that because they were on top for a day it is our duty to keep them there. They are not going to keep their dead body hanging about our necks, and the drys would as well make up their minds to it. They will find their minds glad to serve them again.

There ain't no Spring!
At school the teacher makes us read
A lot of bunk That's written by them poet gus.
Who tell about
Glad singing birds, and babbling brooks,
And sapphire skies,
And perfumes wafted on the breeze.
What do they know?
They never go outdoors at all.
They could not write such perfect rot.
Say! Ain't it rained
Most every day since Christmas?
The only birds that could be glad have been The ducks.

And them there brooks don't babble. No, sir! They just roar—
And everything is damp and dark. I'll say.

HANK IN BAD COMPANY ALREADY.

(Monroe County Mo.) Appeal.)
William Randolph Hearst declared for Henry Ford for President, Saturday. This is about the worst thing that could have happened to Mr. Ford and will probably result in a punctured tire before his political flivver has got a good start. Hearst is generally looked upon as the worst influence in America. His support of candidates is usually influenced by other things than interest in the public welfare. Thousands of people who otherwise would have been friendly to Mr. Ford will now look upon his candidacy with suspicion.

DIARY OF A SCRIVENER.

June 4—Up to the apothecary's where I called my city editor, a surly fellow, and he bade me repair to the Chase Hotel to find out if the wife of a baseball player intended to sue him for divorce, which I did with ill grace, for I dislike much to discuss someone else's marital troubles, but she so gravely withal that I found little complaint and indeed sympathized with her. Thence to the Missouri Theater to see the mighty organist, for I had news that he was about to take a wife, but he (the coxcomb) denied it so indignantly and protested such undying friendship for my journal that I was hoodwinked completely. So, much chagrined, I learned that afternoon that he had eloped and my faith in humanity was much shaken. Then to lunch, where I was short-changed by a shilling and much wroth, albeit I was vexed more at the principle than at the loss of so little money. In the afternoon to the Statler to see a woman much in the public prints of late, but she not in, albeit I waited an hour for her. So home and to bed, disgusted with affairs generally.

June 5—To the West End to interview a youth leaving college at 17 and expected to find him a pedantic zany, but he an excellent fellow and no prude whatever, and we talked long on this and that and became well acquainted. I promising to come and see him again, which I will certainly do. Downtown, where a fellow on Olive street was vending complete alms for less than a shilling and would have bought one, but Lord! if someone should see me with it, but a bargain nevertheless, and hard to pass up. He will force me into a sale yet.

WHAT A FINANCIER DID.

(Sikeston Mo.) Standard.
A man wanted a ticket to Buffalo and only had a $2 bill. It required $3 to get the ticket. He took the $2 bill to a pawn shop and pawned it for $1.50. On his way back to the depot he met a friend to whom he sold the pawn ticket for $1.50. That gave him three dollars for his ticket to Buffalo. Now, the question is, who's out the dollar?

The question as to which of these cities is the better will be debated at the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce on Saturday evening. Detroit will send a band of orators, whom Buffalo will oppose.

It is probable that Rochester will challenge the winner, for there are those hereabouts who stoutly maintain that Rochester surpasses either Buffalo or Detroit. ## ENTERTAINS VISITOR

—Todd Photograph.

MISS VIRGINIA CARANNE LINK
Miss Link, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cary Link of 5650 Cabanne avenue, will entertain Miss Emily Gerber of Memphis, Tenn., Miss Gerber was graduated a few days ago from the Finch School in New York. Miss Link will accompany her home at the termination of her visit here. Informal parties are being given in honor of the visitor.

Social Items

A more picturesque or appropriate setting for a wedding could hardly be imagined than that in which Miss Mary Willie Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woodward, will become the bride at 5 o'clock tonight of Frank Curtiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtiss, at 40, will assemble on the race track at the Woodward home at 3 Forest Road, and the bride couple will stand under a rose-covered pergola while the ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. John S. Bunting, Knight Woodward, brother of the bride will be best man and the only attendant. Because of mourning in the bride's family the arrangements are to be most informal. The bride will wear white satin crepe adorned with the bodice with old family rose point lace which droops over the arm to form the sleeves. From her shoulders will depend the satin court train covered with the same lace. The bride veil is of tulle, and will be arranged with orange blossoms. She will carry orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Merker, who is the son of E. E. Merker of 721 Goodfellow avenue, will take his bride to Asheville, N. C., for their honeymoon trip, and upon their return they will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Woodward until fall.
The out-of-town guests are Miss Margaret Merker, sister of the bridegroom, and his aunt, Mrs. William M. Barr, both of Omaha, Neb.; Henry Merker, his brother, from Denver, and Miss Florence Merker, another aunt, from New Albany, Ind. Miss Woodward is a graduate of Mary Institute and of Omaha, Neb. She will be met in the East by Mrs. Maud of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball. She made her debut a year or two ago at a large tea given by her mother.

Mr. T. A. Meyersburg of 5 Westmoreland place departed last evening for California to spend the summer at the various resorts. She will visit the Grand Canyon in Arizona on her way West.
Miss Sarah Boogher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boogher of 6241 Waterman avenue, will return from Wells College Saturday of this week. Miss Boogher's roommate, Miss Vivian Dodge of Birmingham, N. Y., will accompany her home and spend several weeks in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Ross Duncan Meier of the Kent road, St. Louis County, are in Hot Springs, Va. They will go to New York later, returning in about three weeks.
Miss Dorothy Partridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Partridge, of 5188 Cabanne avenue, will depart today to visit her sister, Mrs. Hobart Bemis Swan, in Springfield, Mass. She will be met in the East by Miss Elizabeth Grayson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grayson Jr., and Misses Helma and Ruth Kreismann, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kreismann, and they will sail from Montreal June 22 for Europe. The party will remain abroad all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Denyev of 6145 Washington boulevard and Mr. and Mrs. George Dorrill will depart by motor June 12 for Monrovia, Mass., where they have leased a cottage for the season. Mrs. Edgar P. Withrow and her children, with Mr. and Mrs. Denyev's children will go by train and meet them there. The Dorrills will return in a month, while Mr. and Mrs. Denyev and their family will remain until Sept. 15. They expect to go to Hartford, Conn., for the Yale-Harvard baseball game and to New York for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh L. Moore of 6621 Washington boulevard are at the Ambassador Hotel, New York. They will visit in Bethlehem, Pa., as the guest of her uncle, Bishop Ethelbert Talbot, before returning home.

FORMER ST. LOUIS GIRL TO WED IN EAST

Engagement of Miss Wilhelmina West Announced at Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. West Jr. of Providence, R. I., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Wilhelmina Crapo West, and Richard E. Wheeler of Providence, formerly of New Haven, Conn. The Wests are former St. Louisians and left here about seven years ago to make Providence their home. Miss West is the granddaughter of Mr. Thomas H. West of 11 Westmoreland place. She was educated at Mary Institute and in the East, where she was graduated from Miss Porter's School at Farmington, Conn. Her classmates included Miss Francis West, Miss Mary Etta Randolph, Miss Margaret Shepley and other St. Louis girls. Two years ago she was formally presented to society in Providence.

News of the engagement is of unusual interest in St. Louis at this time because Miss West recently visited Miss Frances West, and was much entertained.
Mr. Wheeler, whose parents live in New Haven, is a graduate of Yale University. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Invitations have been received for a tea to be given by Mrs. James H. Harris of 445 Algonquin Lane, Webster Groves, and her daughter, Miss Ruth Harris, at their home Monday, June 11, from 4 to 6 o'clock, in honor of Mrs. Marion E. Clark, and Misses Charlotte and Mildred Clark of Indianapolis, Ind.

Miss Josephine Lawlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Lawlin of 5138 Washington boulevard is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kauffmann Jr., at Lockley Lodge, Wis., for three weeks. Upon her return in July she will accompany her parents and sister, Miss Julia Lawlin, to Horton's Ranch, Wyo.

Miss Virginia Price, daughter of T. E. Price of 28 North King's highway, will be hostess at a bridge luncheon Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Charles Knox of Des Moines, Ia., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. J. Tucker, 4732 Laclede avenue. The table will be decorated in spring flowers and the guests will be Misses Mabel Wendover, Frances Carter, Peggy Marie, Rose Frank, Alice Windsor, June Curran, Mabel Knox, Margaret Fauntleroy, Ruth Muckerman, and Misses Gordon Dameron of Baton Rouge, La., Mervell Locke Good of Kansas City, Mo., Claudio Castillon, Leonard MacCarthy and Marvin A. Northrup of Minneapolis.

Miss Kathleen Lucy was hostess at a bridge party Tuesday afternoon at the College Club in honor of Mrs. Compton W. Nohl of Atlanta, Ga., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. J. Wuentenbaecher, 3215 Russell avenue. During the afternoon Miss Lucy announced her engagement to Fred R. Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hammond of 2642 Cleveland avenue. Miss Lucy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Lucy of 4048 Lafayette avenue. She was educated at Washington University and is a member of Beta Beta Beta. Mr. Hammond is a graduate of Washington University and served in the aviation corps during the war. The guests at the party were Misses James Gray, Frank Ball, John W. Gentry, Webb Kerner, Mr. A. J. Jellie, Fred Gay, Edward Miller, and Misses Clara Parks, Helen Shroyok, Mabel Conway, Edith Hammond, Helen Poertner and the honor guest.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Scherrer of 5773 Pershing avenue departed Saturday for Washington to attend the Shrine convention and to visit in Atlantic City and through New England. They will return by way of Canada.
The alumnae of St. Joseph's Academy will give a luncheon at the Caterworth Hotel, June 9, in honor of the graduating class. Bridge and "500" will be played during the afternoon. Mrs. B. J. Spaech of 3507 South Newstead avenue is chairman of the affair.

A public reception will be given at the Epworth School for Girls in Webster Groves, at Farm and Marshall place, on Wednesday, June 6, from 3 to 5 p. m. As this institution is included in the Community Fund, no solicitation will be made, but this opportunity is given all interested in work for delinquent girls to view at first hand the work of the school. About 40 girls are at present under the care of this institution and they will render a program of songs during the afternoon. Tea will be served under the direction of a committee, of which Mrs. E. A. Kieselhorst is chairman.

PUPILS TO ENTERTAIN AT ICE FUND BENEFIT

Pupils of the Eugene Field School, assisted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will give their third annual benefit entertainment at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the Francis Home, Newstead and Maryland avenues. The proceeds of the affair, which is being directed by Miss Antoinette Dames, will go to the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund.

The program will include an original Bird Play, operetta entitled "On Plymouth Rock," and a dance of flowers. There will also be the following individual numbers: Piano solo, Louise Nichols; song, Arlie Apple; Spanish dance, Lalla Baumann; piano solo, Sara Smart; Russian dance, Carol Edgman; recitation, Edna Mae Finley; piano solo, Edna Mae Finley; recitation, Ralph Pace; fish jig, Jane Doty and Lucile Mause; violin solo, Leon Burford.

Nearly 2000 tickets have been sold in advance.
"Nanook of the North" continues to attract interested audiences at the Pershing Theater each night. A percentage of the box office receipts goes to the fund for the babies.

rank for nurses during the war; William H. Johnston, head of the international machinists' union of the American Federation of Labor; Mrs. Lillian Klunk of Washington; Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, wife of the Senator from Wisconsin; Jackson H. Ralston, attorney for the American Federation of Labor; E. J. Ralston, Philadelphia; the Rev. Father John A. Ryan, director of the industrial section of the National Catholic Welfare Council, sometimes called the "father of the minimum wage law" of the District of Columbia—the law recently nullified by the Supreme Court; Mrs. Charles Edward Russell of Washington, wife of the Socialist author; Frank P. Walsh, attorney of Washington and New York, formerly joint chairman, with William H. Taft, of the War Labor Board and Miss Ellen Winsor of Philadelphia.

Arguments for Their Release.
The ultimate release of the political prisoners, as set out by the workers for amnesty, are fourfold; namely, that the reasons which prompted their prosecution in wartime had since been removed; that the offenses involved only expressions of political or economic opinion; that the trials, particularly of the accused I. W. W.'s, were surrounded by conditions of wartime hysteria that made conviction a foregone conclusion, regardless of the evidence, and that the men have already served substantial sentences.

Elaborating these points, Miss Fendall, executive secretary of the Joint Amnesty Committee, expressed the hope that the President would set reverse himself, and instead of adhering to his announced attention of dealing with the cases separately, would proclaim general amnesty. "The administration has reversed itself before in dealing with the political prisoners," said Miss Fendall, "and the manifest justice of our cause warrants the belief that it will do so again. It took a long time away from its original position when it released several prisoners who had not made individual applications for clemency, after saying that no case would be considered except on such application. Moreover, it is possible now to use the term 'political prisoners' in conversation with the Department of Justice officials without being rebuffed. The Department itself refers to them as 'political prisoners' in quotation marks. This is a hopeful sign."

"Certainly," continued Miss Fendall, "a general amnesty proclamation would be better than the present hit-or-miss system under which those who offended the least may be left in jail, while others are turned out. It is a fact that the men still in prison are the least dangerous of the lot that were imprisoned."

"We feel very strongly that if it was necessary during the war to send these men to prison, the best thing after the war is to get them back to the spirit of the Constitution. Nobody on the committee is concerned with the ideas of the men who are in jail; our sole concern is with the constitutional right of men to express their views. Whatever reasons may have obtained for their imprisonment during the war are nonexistent now, nearly five years after the war."

"We don't understand why the United States presumably the most enlightened of nations cannot follow the example of our European associates in the war, all of which, by amnesty proclamations or by virtue of secret sentences imposed, have released their political prisoners."

"All there is against any of the men remaining in jail is the expression of opinion. It is incontrovertible that these men did not conspire to commit any acts of violence. In calling attention to the facts, the Post-Dispatch is performing a public service of incalculable value. We believe that if the facts were generally known throughout the country, not one of the political prisoners would be in jail today."

Barrymore-Fenwick Wedding in Rome.

WILLIAM WHITING NOLEN, FRIEND OF HARVARD STUDENTS, DIES

He Tutored Those Who Needed Help to Pass Examinations and Paid Assistants Well.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 7.—William Whiting Nolen, private tutor to wealthy Harvard students and friend of poor students for 35 years, is dead. "The Widow," as he was known, helped students who were lax in attendance on lectures to pass their examinations by intensive work at the last minute. He charged $2.50 an hour.
Impecunious students who helped him tutor received all the proceeds except 12 1/2 cents an hour.

Only $25,000,000 Item for Power Development Fails.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, June 7.—The citizens of Los Angeles declined Tuesday's election to authorize the issuance of $25,000,000 of municipal bonds to be used in power development at Boulder Canyon. This was the only one of several bond issues to fail.

Those which got the required majority provided for $7,500,000 for a new city hall and site; $500,000 for the purchase of additional ground for a library; $15,000,000 for harbor improvements; $2,000,000 for water works; $1,000,000 for parks and playgrounds; and $1,500,000 for public playgrounds.

SHRINE VISITORS ENTERTAIN FOR PRESIDENT AND WIFE

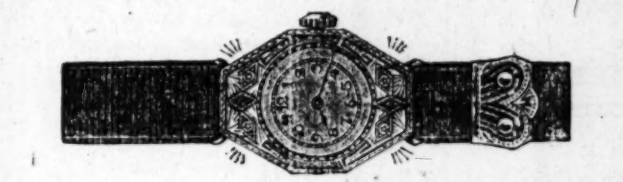

Mr. Harding Greets Old Ohio Friends Informally at Reception on Lawn of White House.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 7.—President and Mrs. Harding had an "old home day" at the White House yesterday when nearly 2000 Ohio Shrine members, received on the South Lawn, entertained them with concerts by their bands, songs by their choruses and drills by their patrols. The President shook hands with all present, slapped old friends on the back, called scores by their first name, and with Mrs. Harding joined in the singing.

A spectacle brilliant in coloring was furnished by the parade of uniformed nobles last night. For four hours, President and Mrs. Harding reviewed the procession from the presidential stand in front of the White House.

sion. He said he refused to confer with his competitor, believing he would receive the publication, obtained the plates and printed it. Becker did not certify a claim for Father Fugel to Auditor Hackmann, which is the reason why Hackmann was made a party to the mandamus suit.

Tried to Get Rates Reduced.

State Senator William C. Irwin of Jefferson City is attorney for Father Fugel in the suit, in which a mandamus is sought to compel the city to pay Father Fugel $104, half the amount allotted for the publication in Maries County. The case has been set for hearing June 18 in Jefferson City.

Father Fugel related to me some of the details of his fight to stop the waste in constitutional amendment printing.

"I can't see that it makes much difference which party is in power," he said. "When the Democrats are in they want the money for the Democratic papers, and when the Republicans are in they want it for the Republican papers. I decided the only way to correct the evil was to change the maximum rates permitted by law, so I drew a bill and took it to the Legislature to try to have the change made."

"You never have seen such disinterestedness. Of course, as the Democrats were in control of the Senate, I went to them. Senator Painter of Carrollton was president of the term. He now is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He is a newspaper man in Carrollton. Probably it was asking too much to ask him to interest himself in a reduction of the rates for official advertising, but I tried it."

"I didn't have much success. Senator Whitecotton seemed to be interested, but he told me Painter had frowned on the plan. I went to Painter, and he told me he was waiting on Whitecotton to the plan in shape. I went back to Whitecotton, and he told me again that Painter was holding it up."

"Then I asked Senator Whitecotton to take me to somebody who might do something so he took me to the Ways and Means Committee. We knocked on the door and Senator Hostetter came out. He said he was just too busy to consider it. I told him about the big loss of money to the State, but he was still too busy. He told me he was even stealing the minute or two he was talking to me and that he ought to be in the committee."

"He Wasn't Interested."

"So he went back into the room and shut the door."

"I looked around and saw Senator Kinney of St. Louis. I tried to stop him, and called out what I wanted. But he wasn't interested either. He just waved his hand and said he couldn't do anything."

"So, you see, that's the way public funds are wasted, and that's the reason taxes are so high. However, there ought to be some interesting testimony when my case goes to trial, and then, perhaps, some of these people will be questioned by their home folks about why they are throwing away public funds."

There was delay this year in sending to the publishers their State warrants, due to State Auditor Hackmann questioning his authority to pay the full amount of the claims certified by the Secretary of State. The law did not authorize the publication of initiative and referendum proposals, which constituted a large part of the space occupied by the official advertising. Hackmann had been warned that he might be liable on his bond. He asked Attorney General Barrett for an opinion. The Attorney-General, whose father is a newspaper publisher, held that payment was proper.

Becker's attention was called to the wording of the statute fixing maximum rates for official advertising and also requiring that public officials obtain the most advantageous rate. He admitted he had not sought to let the work by bids and had not sought to induce publishers to accept a lower rate.

"I just followed my predecessors in this matter," he said. "They let the work in the same manner I did. I have never sought a legal opinion as to that second section of the law requiring that the most advantageous rate be found. I don't believe that it applies to this kind of printing."

Attempting to justify the amounts paid, Becker said that in nearly every county in which there was more than one Republican newspaper there was a division of the money.

He did not offer a reason why there should be publication in more than one newspaper in a county when the law specifies it shall be in one.

All in all, the situation is like that disclosed in Illinois a few weeks ago. Former State Treasurer Miller of Illinois had $160,000 to spend, so he spent it among his friends and political supporters. In Missouri, Secretary of State Becker, as his Democratic predecessors had done, found what to him was a reasonable excuse for spending $239,000 with his friends and political supporters, and the members of the Legislature, fearful of arousing the enmity of the country press, voted to pay the money.

It is another illustration of the Deputy Comptroller of Currency.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 7.—Appointment of Charles W. Collins of Chicago as the Third Deputy Comptroller of the Currency was announced yesterday by Comptroller Davies. Collins has been serving as counsel for the Budget Bureau.

Good-By, Antenna!

—and Good-By,
Storage Battery, too!

THE biggest advance made in radio last winter was the indoor loop as used on De Forest's Reflex Sets, which made the American public finally independent of the out-door antenna strung all over the house.

The second big advance in radio is the development of the De Forest dry cell vacuum tube, so that now you can operate any De Forest Reflex set entirely on dry batteries.

The De Forest Reflexes are ideal sets for summer use, because it has been discovered that static is directional, just like broadcasting, and just as you can cut out the broadcasting you don't want to hear by turning the loop, you cut out practically all of the static in the same way. Radio is now as great a source of pleasure and profit in the summer time as it was last winter. This summer you can carry 3000 radio miles in one hand.

The D-7-A Reflex Set, at $125, has cross-Continent range on the indoor loop, and uses either the usual type of A storage battery and B battery, or dry cells exclusively. The D-10 Portable type, at $150, has cross-Continent range on the indoor loop; operates on either wet or dry batteries, the same as D-7-A; and has the added advantage of portability since it has all the dry battery cells inside the cabinet.

De Forest sells only direct to the public, through authorized agents. If you don't know where you can find De Forest sets, write us and we will give you the address of the De Forest agency nearest you.

NOTE: All distance reception in radio is subject to atmospheric conditions. The De Forest Reflexes are known as the cross-continent receiver because of its many 3000 mile records on indoor loops. (Names of operators on request). According to conditions and in the hands of average operators however these sets vary in reception performance from 1,000 to 3,000 miles.

De Forest

Why You Should Have A De Forest Reflex This Summer

The New York Times says, "The Reflex Circuit has several advantages over the Regenerative Circuit generally used."

De Forest makes the ONLY Reflex Radio Receiver.

You are tired of the Out-Door Antenna with its lack of Selectivity.

De Forest Reflexes use the Two-Foot Loop Aerial.

Other Manufacturers "Claim" distances up to 1500 Miles for Sets of about this price.

De Forest Reflexes hear across the Continent—3000 Miles.

You don't want to be chained to a storage battery this summer.

All De Forest Reflexes operate either on storage batteries or dry cells—and the new Portable Reflex has the dry battery cells inside its cabinet.

You want ease of operation—selectivity—clear reception.

De Forest Reflexes are the easiest long distance sets to operate.

Thursday—Silent

Friday—8 P. M.

Broadcasting the complete opera "Wagner" presented at the open-air Municipal Theater in Forest Park.

The Standard Oil Band of Wood River, Ill., gave a concert on the roof of the Post-Dispatch Building last night for broadcasting by Station KSD. This is the second appearance of the band on the radio from this station and the return was welcomed by those who had admired its first concert last summer. The Standard Oil Band is composed of trained musicians who are maintained by the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana at the Wood River, Ill., station for the entertainment of the employees of the Standard Oil Co.

The leader, L. L. Roy Stocker, is a former New York Symphony Orchestra member, and most of the other men in the band have had national experience in the big bands of the country. Their program last night was largely popular in the best sense of that term, although only one genuinely jazz number was played, and compliments came in not only during, but after the concert from near by and distant points.

This opened the series of band concerts to be given on the roof of the Post-Dispatch Building for broadcasting this summer. The next will be given by a band of 113 from Independence, Kan., who will be here to attend the Rotary convention and will play on June 20 for KSD.

SOUTH AMERICANS DISTRUST US, ST. LOUIS WOMAN FINDS

United States commercial interests stand comparatively little show to get the business of South America. In the opinion of Mrs. J.
W. Lee, 5043 Washington boulevard, National Y. W. C. A. board member, who has returned from a women's "friendly" visiting trip to that continent under the unofficial auspices of the Y. W. C. A.,
"The South Americans do not trust us, and don't hesitate to say so." Mrs. Lee learned in talks with the consuls and merchants. Complaints are made that United States merchants make little effort to please South American customers, frequently sending goods poorly packed, sometimes substituting inferior articles, and apparently fail-

RESIGNS AT PEKINReason Not Made Public, but Is Believed to Be Due to Financial Situation.By the Associated Press.
PEKIN, June 7.—The Chinese Cabinet resigned today.The Cabinet did not make public the reason for its action, but it is understood the cause was the refusal of President Li to follow the recommendations of his Ministers in the appointment of several local officials. Those familiar with the situation believe that the national financial problem was the real motive, and that the controversy over minor appointments was merely the excuse.The Cabinet of Premier Chang Shao-Tseng was formed last January. In addition to almost total lack of finances, it has had to contend with incipient wars and unrest in various parts of the country.Considerable comment abroad recently has been caused by the failure of the Chinese Government to meet interest payments on national loans.
Many Government officials for months have been receiving only portions of their salaries, while the Ministers and Consuls abroad are reported to have been practically without salaries for 11 months.Before his appointment as Premier, Chang Shao-Tseng was Minister of War.Dr. W. W. Yen, former Foreign Minister and once acting Premier, probably will be asked to form a Cabinet, according to information emanating from the President's office today.The choice lies between Dr. Yen, Dr. Wellington Koo, the acting Foreign Minister, whose appointment to the portfolio never was questioned by the Senate, and C. T. Wang, prominently identified with several governments and former speaker of the Canton House of Representatives, under the Sun Yat-Sen regime. President Li Yuan-Hung will send an emissary to Tientsin to ask Chang Shao-Tseng to continue as Premier, but the President has no hope that Chang will accede.The difficulties of the various Chinese Cabinets have had mostly to do with the raising of sufficient finances to carry on the Government in attempting for settlement of the numerous difficulties of the Tchuas, or military governors of the provinces. Recent defaults in the payment of internal loans have caused much comment both in China and abroad.Many of the Government officials for months have received only portions of their salaries.FASHIONGRAMS

DECISION FOR WESTERN ROADS ON LONG HAUL

I. C. C. Ruling Permits Lines
This Side of River to Make Lower Charge.

Under a decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington yesterday the Frisco, Missouri Pacific and Cotton Belt Railroads will be enabled to compete with lines east of the Mississippi River for freight business between St. Louis and Memphis, Vicksburg and New Orleans, from which they have been virtually shut off by a rate discrimination for the past two years.

The decision for the lines west of the river is that they shall be permitted to make rates to Mississippi River crossing points without regard to the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act. Under that act they were prohibited from making a lower rate for the long haul than for a shorter haul to intermediate points, while under the decision yesterday they will be permitted to make a lower rate for the long haul and to maintain the higher rate to intermediate points.

About two years ago the east side lines were authorized to make the lower rates to crossing points. The effect of the discrimination was to divert nearly all business from the west side to the east side lines.

DEATH SENTENCE FOR MURDER

Indiana Man Who Shot Wife and Accused Negro Chauffeur of Crime Convicted.

By the Associated Press.
VALPARAISO, Ind., June 7.—Harry Diamond last night was found guilty of the murder of his wife, Mrs. Nettie Diamond, and sentenced to death. The jury was out four hours. Diamond was charged with having shot his wife while on an automobile trip from Gary to East Chicago. The State contended that the defendant's desire to obtain his wife's money was the motive for the murder.

Diamond, in his testimony and in statements to the police, declared that William Armstrong, negro chauffeur, killed Mrs. Diamond and that he shot Armstrong in self-defense. The negro recovered.

Enjoy life

Don't be self conscious because of a bad skin. Adopt the daily use of Resinol Soap, with occasional touches of Resinol Ointment, and have a complexion that will stand the test of the brightest lights.

Resinol Soap gives a delightfully fragrant lather which removes the excess oils and tends to keep the pores from becoming clogged or enlarged. In addition to being an exquisite toilet soap, it prepares the skin for Resinol Ointment when treating eczema, ringworm, etc. Stop experimenting with other treatments and give Resinol a trial.

Most men like the way Resinol Shaving Stick smoothes the face and prevents after shaving discomforts. It makes daily shaving a real satisfaction.

LOS ANGELES MAN KIDNAPED AND LASHED WITH WIRE CABLENote Warns Offenders Against Women Will Get Similar Treatment.LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Frank Bauer, aged 41, who has been at liberty on bonds charged with a statutory offense, was taken from his home Tuesday night by a partyof men, who took him to the Hollywood hills, bound him to a post, sagged him and beat him with a wire cable until he was unconscious.
They then left a letter in which they said that offenders against girls and women would be similarly treated. They left him bound to the post.
He finally regained consciousness, worked free and crawled to a nearby road. Automobiles took him to the receiving hospital. Physicians said he probably would die.

ON FUNERAL PYREFamous Clipper Craft, Built in 1869, Burned on Beach for Its Metal.Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
SEATTLE, Wash.—Passengers on steamers plying between Tacoma and Seattle, Wash., Sunday night, May 13, saw a red glare in the sky. From a distance it looked like a conflagration in the district of summer homes that extends along the beach south of Seattle, but as the boats rounded the point the blaze came into view—the hull of a dismantled ship, wrapped in flames from neck to water-line.It was the funeral pyre of the Glory of the Seas, most famous of old clipper ships.The Glory was built in 1869, at ton. She was a splendid example of the almost lost art of wooden shipbuilding, and her trim lines and extraordinary speed were known on many oceans. It was the Glory that sailed from New York around the Horn to San Francisco in 90 days, a record said never to have been equaled by a ship of her type.Her speed and seaworthiness kept her in commission long after steam had begun to crowd sails from the seas, but when she was forty-four years old the inevitable happened, and the Glory was taken out of service and fitted up as a refrigerator ship, to be towed humbly after the Alaska salmon fleet. And presently even that usefulness was denied her and she lay rotting at a Tacoma dock.Finally her owners decided to salvage the iron and copper in her hull and burn her.A group of Boston shipping men, hearing of her doom, talked of buying her, to keep as a relic of the picturesque days of square riggers and a proof of what the old shipbuilders could do. But the plan failed and what was left of the Glory was towed out, beached and set on fire, startling homegoing travelers, most of whom had not been born when her keel was laid.ITALIAN CABINET FOR SUFFRAGE

ible to Municipal Offices.
By the Associated Press.
ROME, June 7.—The Cabinet yesterday unanimously adopted the draft of the new electoral reform bill, previously approved by Premier Mussolini. This provides for the eligibility of women candidates in municipal elections.The women eligible are those of 25 years of age, decorated for military or civil valor, or with the cross for war merit, or holding the medal for service for public health or elementary instruction, mothers of those fallen in the war, women acting officially as tutors or the heads of families, and those having passed examinations for Government schools.

A New Standard of Mileage

Proved by Thousands of Motorists and Further Proved by Tommy Milton at Indianapolis

Tommy Milton brought the new standard of tire construction forcibly to the attention of American motorists when he flashed across the line at Indianapolis winner in a race that proved to be one of the most extreme tire tests on record. The first four to finish and eight of ten "in the money" were Firestone equipped. Not once—in the entire 500 mile grind—was there a tire failure on any car equipped with Firestone Tires.

"Gum-Dipping did it"—is the car-owner's explanation of this tire triumph which gives emphasis to a series of mileage performances unparalleled in motoring history.

For years vulcanizers who know tires best have claimed that Firestone Cords were the sturdiest built, had the strongest carcass, and were the hardest to tear down of any tire they knew.

The marked superiority of Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords has been still more clearly and definitely established during the first six months of 1933.

Firestone has set a new standard—car-owners have proved it. As a result, three Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are sold today to every one a year ago.

If you are not now using Firestone Cords, test one—or a set—under the most difficult driving conditions you know. Let the mileage results decide your future buying.

MAN HURT BY AUTO TRUCK SATURDAY DIES

Louis Wagner, Mechanic, Succumbs to Fracture of Thigh and Internal Injuries.

Louis Wagner, 27 years old, of 5129 Cologne avenue, an automobile mechanic, died at City Hospital last night from injuries suffered when run over by the rear wheel of a truck last Saturday.

When he applied for treatment he told physicians he had been sent to town in a truck that had stalled in the 3700 block on Russell avenue. The stalled machine was being pulled in, and Wagner said he was standing on the running board of the first truck in rubber boots, when he slipped and fell underneath his own machine. He suffered fracture of the left thigh and internal injuries.

BOY, 16, TAKEN AS SPEEDER

Was Driving at 35 Miles an Hour With Cut-Out on Auto Muffler Open.

A Ford roadster driven by a boy 16 years old, speeding at 35 miles an hour with the cut-out on the muffler open on Washington boulevard between Lake avenue and Union boulevard yesterday afternoon, attracted the attention of Clinton H. Fiske, Director of Streets and Sewers, and his assistant, Peyton Andrews.

They overhauled the speeding Ford and took charge of the boy. He said he lived in Webster Groves and said the roadster was the property of his brother who had loaned it to him. He didn't know it was against the law to have the cut-out open, he said neither did he realize the speed at which he had been traveling. He after being taken to the police station, explained it was his first offense and, then, was released.

Women Judges and Men Judges

By WINIFRED BLACK

WHICH makes the better Judge for a woman's court—a man or a woman?

If I were a plain, honest woman, not pretty and not skilled in the gentle art of coquetry, I'd rather take my chances with a woman—thank you.

Especially if I were a little stupid and didn't know how to wear my clothes and had done something wrong that I didn't really mean to do at all.

If I were a pretty woman and a really wicked woman, and a woman who knew how to smile and how to weep at the right minute—I'd choose a man for my Judge.

If I were an honest, well-meaning, rather dull man who had been led into trouble by someone a good deal cleverer than I—I'd choose a man to sit on the bench when my case was tried.

If I were a good-looking scamp and had a way with me or even a nice pair of eyes or a sort of boyish look—I'd choose a woman for my Judge and—there you are.

Women Can Judge Women.

But at that—the woman has a little the better of the argument, don't you think?

A man is never too old or too ill, or too cynical or too tired of life, to forget that a woman is always and all the time—a woman.

From the time a man arrives in a woman—and the average man is simply helpless when he gets into the hands of a clever woman who wants to make him think what she thinks he ought to think.

Women can judge women, and men can judge men. Isn't that about it?

Do you really understand your mother or your wife or your sweet-heart—you who are so wise in the ways of the world?

Feminine Fifty Is Motherly.

Women have had to make a study of men ever since the world began—and they've made it pretty thoroughly.

Man comes home from downtown tired and cross—he doesn't have to pretend. It's the wife who does the pretending—she's had to do it for centuries, and the particular man she pretends for loves to have her do the pretending—and there you are.

In the courtroom it is the same old game—except for this one thing: The older a woman grows the clearer her eyes are when she looks at a man.

The older a man grows the easier it is to put blinders on him and walk him into almost any kind of a manger.

Make your women magistrates elderly—and you'll have no trouble with them.

Feminine 50 is a motherly soul—and good mothers realize that a too-facile forgiveness is about as bad for discipline as a too-bitter condemnation.

And, whisper, gentlemen of the jury, look out for the woman who doesn't want to be tried by a woman Judge.

The woman who hates and fears other women has a reason—and the other woman always knows it.

Mother Bear's Patience Is Tried

By Thornton W. Burgess

Patience may be taxed too much; Retribution waits for such.

—Mother Bear.

FOR several days after her experience with the bees, Littlest Bear was a model little Bear. A better little Bear couldn't have been asked for. But after she began to feel really herself again, having fully recovered from the effect of those stings, she began to want her own way again. She began to get back into her old habits and doing about as she pleased. She was forever dropping behind, so that Mother Bear often had to stop and wait for her. But, because she was the spoiled darling of the family, Mother Bear never punished her.

One day Mother Bear took them over to the Laughing Brook fishing. Now fishing is, as everybody knows, largely a matter of patience. Mother Bear had discovered that a certain kind of fish were working their way up the Laughing Brook, and that in certain places where the water was very shallow one who was quick enough might scoop some of them out into the bank.

When she reached one of these places Mother Bear told the triplets to keep still and watch. Presently a fish started out of the deeper water and struggled up through the swiftly moving shallow water. Mother Bear pointed it out to the cubs.

"Now you go back there on the bank a little way and watch me. I'll show you how to catch fish. But you must keep still. You must keep perfectly still," said she.

So the three little Bears went back on the bank and sat down to watch. Mother Bear chose a place at the very edge of the water where she could watch and see a fish when it first left the deeper water to begin its struggle up through the shallow water. There she waited, motionless and watchful.

The three little Bears watched eagerly. The minutes slipped away. Nothing happened. No fish appeared. The cubs began to grow tired of doing nothing. They grew impatient. Littlest Bear became the most impatient of the three. She began to wriggle. She no longer watched Mother Bear. Presently she got up and began to walk about. Brother nearer to the Laughing Brook below where Mother Bear was kneeling; her motionless watch. Littlest Bear's quick ears caught the sound of a fish splash. She took two or three steps nearer the water and waited. There was another little splash. She caught sight of a fish just starting up through that shallow water.

"There's one! There's one!" cried Littlest Bear excitedly.

"There's one! There's one!" cried Littlest Bear excitedly. And, rushing to the edge of the water, she began to dance about in great excitement.

That fish turned and darted back into the deep water. Mother Bear turned her head and growled a sharp warning to Littlest Bear. Littlest Bear hung her head and went back to join Brother and Sister. Then came another long wait. Littlest Bear grew restless again. Presently the same thing happened again. Littlest Bear frightened the fish that would have gone up within reach of Mother Bear. This time Mother Bear's growl had an ugly sound. Her patience was being sorely tried.

CHAPTER VIII.

A DECLARATION OF WAR.

A FEW days after Douglas Kenyon's return from Southampton Jean Bronson was walking across town in the direction of Broadway. She had been doing some shopping on the avenue, but not having been able to find exactly what she wanted, had determined to visit one of the big stores near Times Square. She had disdained the car on this beautiful spring morning and was rejoicing in the fresh June air. She and her mother rarely remained in the city so late in the year, but the problems of servants for their cottage at Narragansett had delayed them—they were to leave, however, in a few days.

Jean was not at all interested in her departure. Nothing, in fact, had interested her greatly since the unfortunate termination of her romance with Douglas Kenyon. She did not know as yet of his position with Mr. Blair; in fact, with the exception of the disagreeable meeting that afternoon at the door of the restaurant, Douglas had dropped completely out of her life, it not out of her thoughts.

That he was infatuated with the chorus girl, Marcia Walsh, she did not doubt. The thought outraged her pride; she could not lower herself to compete with a woman of that sort for the affections of any man, and yet some spirit of competitiveness within her made her furious at her inability to strike back, to pit her attractions, her charms, against those of Miss Walsh or any other woman who might come between her and the man she loved. It was a very primitive feeling, and one that she owed, along with her red hair, to a father whom she scarcely remembered.

As these thoughts were drifting through her mind she suddenly realized that, quite without intention, she had chosen Forty-fifth street for her journey from Fifth avenue to Broadway; the gaudy posters before the Forty-Fifth Street Theater told her where she was. There were some photographs of the company in a large frame near the entrance. Jean paused to examine them; filled with a melancholy curiosity. There were several excellent pictures of Marcia Walsh, at which she gazed for a long time. Then she turned away, passing the stage entrance, through which several girls were hurrying, evidently to a rehearsal. A moment later she saw Miss Walsh, in an attractive if somewhat bizarre costume of pongee silk, coming toward her, and, to her intense indignation, the girl was smiling.

Jean looked away. If she could not tell Miss Walsh what she thought of her, if good breeding forbade even a verbal conflict between them, she could at least ignore her. But Miss Walsh, it appeared, had not the least intention of being ignored. She paused directly in front of Jean and spoke. "Miss Bronson," she said, "there's something I want to say to you."

Jean was about to pass on. Then her curiosity got the better of her. She hesitated, she lost.

"What can you possibly have to say to me?" she asked, coldly. "Nothing much," Miss Walsh grinned, "but what there is of it is for your good. I don't have to butt in on your affairs. They're none of my business. But I saw the other afternoon when you lapped me and that fallow of yours together that you were sore as a crab, and I knew you thought I was trying to land him. Well, I wasn't. Not but what I know it won't get me anywhere, so what's the use? He asked me to dinner because he wanted to find out what you'd said to me that time you came to my dressing room. Said he'd wrote you a letter and you'd given him the air. Well, I just want you to know that if anybody's put the skids under your romance, it wasn't me. I'm just the goat, going and coming. Thought you might like to know."

Jean stood gazing at the girl, bewildered. Miss Walsh's slang, if unfamiliar, was still expressive enough. If what she said was true, then she, Jean, had done Douglas a great injustice. She thrust out an impulsive hand, but Miss Walsh did not notice it. She was smiling quizzically at the puzzled expression on Jean's face.

"Thank you," the latter stammered. "I—I'm afraid I've been rather unjust. But in the letter Mr. Kenyon sent me he spoke of having seen you, and"

"He couldn't have. I've never seen him, since the night at Mr. Blair's, but that once."

"But—he said he understood from you that you had told me the truth, and"

"So I did—in a letter I wrote him. He's a nice boy, and I thought it would make him feel better to know that I'd done what I could to square him with you."

"Oh!" Jean thought back, remembered the exact wording of Douglas' note. It was not difficult for her to do this; she had read it often enough. "I see. Then I have done him an injustice and you, too?" "Oh, never mind about me! I can stand it. Only if I were you I'd have a talk with him. He seemed all up in the air because you wouldn't give him a chance to explain. You've got to go slow turning a decent fellow down these days. Competition's something fierce. And there's a whole lot of chaps getting kinda leery of the sound of wedding bells. When you strike one that means business, grab him quick. Well, so long. Glad to have seen you." The girl disappeared through the stage door.

Five minutes later Jean called up the Continental Trust Co. She knew that she would not find Douglas there, but she thought he had in all probability left word where he could be reached. This was indeed the case, although the telephone number which he had supplied gave no hint of the nature of his business or where his office was situated. When she heard his voice, asking what she wanted, the familiar tones thrilled her in spite of the fact that he had evidently not recognized her own.

"This is Jean Bronson," she said steadily. "Is that you, Douglas?" "Why—yes," he gasped in surprise. "How are you, Jean? I'm awfully glad you called up."

"I want to see you, Douglas," she went on, trying to conceal her agitation beneath a calmness she was far from feeling. "Can you meet me somewhere about 5 o'clock?"

"Of course I can. How about the Biltmore? In the lobby? We can have tea and—talk. I've a lot I want to say to you." He was thinking of the steps he was taking against her grandfather; it had occurred to him more than once that he would like to tell Jean about them in advance, to explain how the thing had been forced upon him, how disagreeable a duty he found it to be. At least, he argued, she could not then feel that he had been actuated by any desire to retaliate upon Mr. Carrington for the treatment he had received.

"I'll be there at 5," he heard Jean saying. "In the lobby. Don't be late, will you? Good-by, Douglas." She hung up the receiver with more happiness in her heart than she had felt for many days. Abandoning her unfinished shopping, she hurried home.

When luncheon was over, and she

How You May Evade One Foe of Beauty By LUCREZIA BORI

DO you realize that the wear and tear of a strenuous life are in themselves deadly enemies to beauty?

Not that I mean that an active life is detrimental to beauty. On the contrary, I have often dwelt upon the fact that the woman who leads a busy, interested, happy life is much more likely to be attractive to look upon than the woman who doesn't. The latter often appears sluggish and dull and uninterested because her whole vitality becomes slackened, and she doesn't pulse with the joy of living.

The woman whose eye sparkles and whose cheek glows with vitality looks attractive because she is full of the joy of living. Being busy and interested induces this feeling.

But what I want to impress upon you today is that you must be busy and interested without overdoing. It is the woman who stays at a high nervous tension all the time whose beauty suffers.

Watch the woman who goes at high speed all day long and sometimes far into the night. Perhaps she stands it well for a time, but you are sure to see a tired, drawn expression appear after awhile.

Often it's the tiny muscles that run from the nose to the corners of the mouth that show wear first. They sag and make little grooves, and the mouth loses the sweet, calm expression that it must have to be thoroughly attractive. Then the eyes are likely to take on a dull, tired light which completely dims the bright sparkle that was formerly theirs.

Instead of a healthy glow, the skin appears pale and bloodless. And then when the system becomes run down the hair loses its healthy, glossy appearance and begins to look dull and lifeless.

Now, the thing to do is to arrange your days so you won't be rushing madly all day long from one bit of work to the other, or from one bit of play to the other. It doesn't pay to be always at high tension, and you must learn to relax at every opportunity.

If you can drop upon your bed, even when you are in your room for only a few minutes, and relax thoroughly for the time you are there, you will stay young longer.

I'm going to tell you of a lotion with which you can sponge yourself after a warm bath at night. It will help you to relax and sleep the sleep of a child, and it will do much to take away the fatigue of a long, hard day:

Spirits of ammonia.....2 ounces Spirits of camphor.....2 ounces
Sea salt .....1½ cups
Alcohol .....2 cups

Put these ingredients into a quart bottle, fill it with boiling water, and shake well before using. Dry your face after your warm bath, then sponge yourself all over with this lotion. You will feel the soreness of fatigue leave you, and you will fall into beauty-giving slumber.

How "Rheumatoid Arthritis" May Be Given Real Relief

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

SOME ailments are persistently hidden from the doctor. There is a natural reticence about speaking of them. There are others, however, which are shown the doctor immediately on their discovery.

One such condition is enlargement of the joints. Everybody has a horror of deformities, especially if they take such forms as to be noticeable to others.

Enlargement of the joints is due to a disease called "rheumatoid arthritis." It is an inflammation of the joint tissues. There are found irritation and thickening of the joint structures and thickening of the ligaments of the joints.

As you would expect, this trouble is first observed when the smaller joints of the hands, particularly of the fingers, are affected. In the beginning there may be redness, swelling, heat and tenderness. More likely, however, the joints will become increasingly stiff and swollen, with out any soreness. Marked deformity may occur without a symptom of pain or inflammatory disturbance.

Of course, the trouble is not confined to the hands. It may involve all the joints of the body. There is sometimes creaking or groaning of the joints in movement. There may be marked deformity, due to bone displacement following severe inflammation.

There is an acute type in which there are great swelling, pain and fever. This is more commonly met in young women. For that matter, all the forms of rheumatoid arthritis are more likely to attack young women than other folk. While it appears at any age, it comes oftenest between the ages of 18 and 40.

This disease is like every other one—the way is prepared for its onset by any run-down condition of health. Acute illness, worry, grief, misfortune—all these are factors. Bad housing, overcrowding, poor food, lack of sunlight and all the other violations of hygienic living may be followed by an attack of rheumatoid arthritis. Gout and rheumatism predispose to it.

There are some who look upon arthritis as a manifestation of tuberculosis. There is considerable doubt of this, and no one need worry over this possibility because it is purely a local affair anyway.

There are forms of arthritis due to infection from pus-producing germs. It may follow the acute infectious diseases, tonsillitis and other infections.

There is yet another form met in children. This one has fever, enlargement of the spleen and anemia. The joint attack in this case is merely a symptom of an ailment which is called "Still's disease."

In the treatment, first attention is given the general health. Food, exercise, fresh air and out-of-door life are important.

If means will permit, a sojourn in a warm, dry climate will help. But it isn't necessary to go to all this trouble and expense because a life can be so governed as to provide the natural essentials to improve the health.

Massage, the various light treatments and medication will help, but they must be directed by your doctor.

WORDS of WISE MEN

That which a man likes is half done.

Improve rather by other men's errors than find fault with them.

Experience is the father of wisdom—and memory, the mother.

Great designs require great consideration.

It is in vain to use words when deeds are expected.

The more a man knows the more he is inclined to be modest.

To maintain a fault known is a double fault.

Do not all charms fly at the mere touch of cold philosophy?

We lose certainties while we seek uncertainties.

Young twigs are sooner bent than old trees.

The man who makes no mistakes does not usually make anything.

The happy only are the truly great.

Life is most enjoyed when courted least.

Hearts may agree though heads differ.

Genius is nothing else but a great aptitude for patience.

Time is a great master—he rules matters well.

Running is of no use—the thing is to start in time.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

Four Kinds of Summer Sandwiches to Serve With Tea.

MOST people who have porches are beginning to enjoy them thoroughly. Early summer is such a delightful time outdoors, and although the family may not eat all their meals there, they should if possible. Afternoon tea is often served there, and it is nice to know a lot of dainties to prepare for this informal function. Hot tea, iced tea, tea punch or tea jelly must be present, no matter what other omissions may be allowable. The tea punch may be varied with different flavorings of mint, lemon, verbena, rose leaves or spices, also with any of the fresh fruits liked.

Ham and Currant Sandwiches.
Mince—very fine, enough cold boiled ham to make a small cupful. Mix with the ham a half-cupful of currant jelly and a saltspoonful of paprika. Work to a spreading paste, add a tablespoonful of washed and chopped capers and spread on thin strips of whole-wheat bread.

Tutti-Frutti Sandwiches.
Seed and chop enough raisins to make a half-cupful. Add a quarter cupful of chopped nuts, a dozen olives stoned and minced fine, a tablespoonful of dry applesauce and enough heavy mayonnaise to make the mass soft enough to spread well. Butter rye bread rounds very lightly and lay up the sandwiches. If preferred, Boston brown bread may be used instead.

Cucumber Sandwiches.
Peel and chop very fine two long, thin, fresh cucumbers. Add two grated onions, pepper, salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. Place in a little white enamel strainer over a bowl and put in the ice box to drain and chill. When ready to use, sprinkle with a tablespoonful of French dressing, and when it is drained off, fold in enough mayonnaise to make a spreading consistency. Butter whole-wheat rounds lightly and then spread on the paste. Serve stuffed olives with the sandwiches.

Chick-Pea Sandwiches.
Soak a half-pound of chick-peas over night, changing the water once to make sure they are clean. In the morning boil them with salt in the water until they are very tender, drain and mash them through a puree sieve. Add salt, pepper, a little sugar, a lump of butter, the juice of an onion and cream enough to soften and beat the mixture until light and creamy. When ready to use, spread both pieces of bread with the paste and lay a lettuce leaf that has been dipped in French dressing between.

When her husband resigned as treasurer of Ojibwa, Wis., Mrs. W. R. Crane was elected as his successor.

MMR's Red Seal HAIR NET

MMR has perfected a hair net of long wearing life which yet looks nothing like the old-fashioned hair net. It is a hair net that will last for years and keep your hair in the style you desire.

How greater strength is tied in MMR's Hair Net

MMR, designer of fashion accessories, believes in the importance of little things. Such a thing as a hair net he considers worth making superlatively well. Only so can it give the artistic touch and the practical wear it ought to give.

So MMR's Red Seal hair net is really a longer wearing net, strong and substantial, as well as dainty. This added strength MMR gets in just one way—by faultless workmanship, never-ceasing care in details!

A hair net is as strong as its knotted strands. MMR will have none but the longest hairs, securely tied at regular intervals. This makes a firm, even mesh with no weak "patched" places to break when put under sudden strain.

A dainty, delicate thing, MMR's hair net, yet capable of so much longer wear! Try one on your hair; see its beauty; find how long a hair net really can wear! At any drug or department store, 2 for 25c.
